...ago, Sept. 1.—With several hundred passengers, most of them women and children, the City of Chicago, an excursion steamer, caught fire early today several miles off shore. Racing ...ames, the steamer made ...government breakwater and the passengers were landed a moment before the boat sank. Capt. Bjork declares he believed that all had been taken off safely.

The passengers, many of whom had been drawn from the water, were huddled on the breakwater and later were taken ashore on tugs and in other excursion boats. Some expressed the belief several occupants of berths had been drowned. One man taken from the water said the passengers had not been awakened until a few minutes before the boat sank. He had been asleep in his berth, he said, and awoke only when the smoke became overpowering.

The City of Chicago belonged to the Graham & Morton Transportation company, and had been in use since 1890 as an excursion boat. She left Benton Harbor late last night for Chicago.

The fire, believed to have started in the galley, was discovered when about three miles off the Illinois shore. Capt. Bjork ordered that the ship be rushed to shore and the flaming boat was driven at full force into the government pier. The boat struck so hard that each of the piling was torn down and the plaster was knocked from a dwelling on the structure. The passengers, many of whom had been ordered aft by the captain, were tossed about, many of them being thrown into the water.

Capt. Charles Carland, of the life-saving service, took charge of the rescue work. He and Capt. Bjork said the passengers had acted with remarkable calmness. Women and children were given the first opportunity to reach the pier. Stationing himself at the side of the boat Capt. Bjork shouted that not a man was to leave the ship until the women and children were safe.

Most of the passengers rushed to the lower decks when they learned of the fire and nearly all of them were thinly clad when they left the boat.

No effort was made to save personal ...

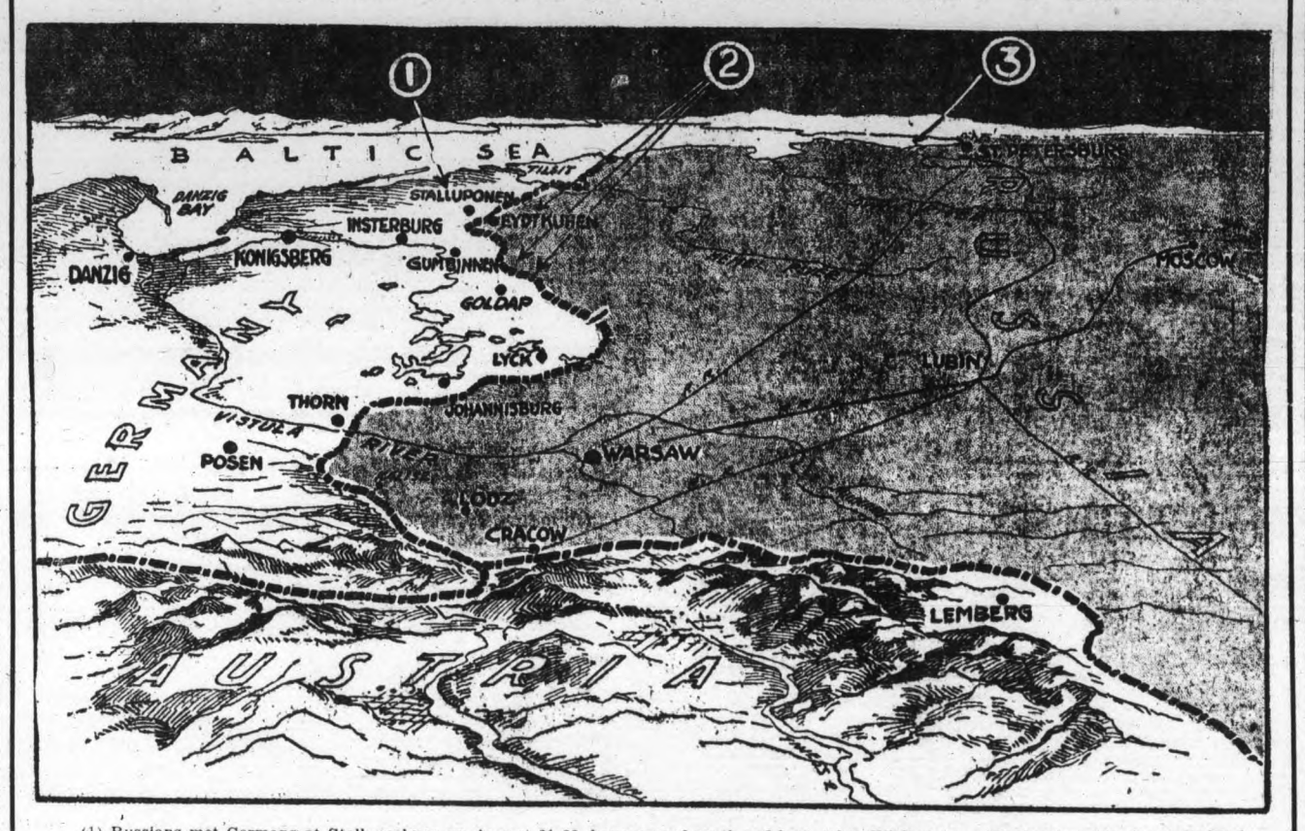
WHERE RUSSIA IS MOVING AGAINST THE GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN FORCES



(1) Russians met Germans at Stallupoehnen on August 21-22, have passed south and have taken Tilsit since. (2) Russian victories at Eydtkuhn, Gumbinnen and Goldap, August 17-18-19. (3) Gulf of Finland, where the Russian fleet is waiting. The Russians also have invested Konigsberg since their earlier victories. In the Austrian campaign the Russians have invaded considerable territory, taking Lemberg and are now 40 miles south of that place.

PRINCE VON BUELOW NOW REPORTED DEAD

Placards Announce Germans Now Consider Belgium as German Province.

London, Sept. 1.—In a dispatch from Amsterdam a correspondent of the Central News says that during the German bombardment of Malines the painting by Rubens, representing the Miraculous Draught of Fishes, was destroyed. It hung in the church of Notre Dame. The correspondent declares that the German general, Prince von Buelow, who was wounded in the battle at Haelen, has since died.

Various places in Belgium now occupied by the Germans, according to this authority, have been posted with placards announcing that the Germans now consider Belgium a German province.

FOOD PRICES CUT BY MUNICIPAL MARKETS

Housewives of New York Buy Out Farmers and Dealers Within an Hour.

New York, Sept. 1.—Housewives armed with market baskets stormed the four municipal markets opened today by the mayor's citizen committee, in an effort to stem the rising cost of food, in such numbers that many farmers and dealers had sold out within an hour. Farmers from the surrounding country, including northern New Jersey, push-carts merchants, commission men and representatives of one department store invited by the committee to occupy the new markets rent free were on hand in force. They sold their goods under supervision of the committee's inspectors, who were fortified with the latest retail and wholesale quotations.

Prices tumbled. Bread sold as low as four cents a loaf and other staples correspondingly cheap. Thousands of pounds of sugar at seven cents a pound were sold during the first hour of trading. The price of potatoes was cut more than one-third; new corn sold for forty per cent. less than the price demanded at shops directly across the street; apples, peaches and other fruit, freshly gathered, were cut in price from 20 to 35 per cent.

CHANCE BULLET ENDS WHITE WOLF'S CAREER

San Francisco, Sept. 1.—Chinatown here had word by cable to-day that White Wolf, the bandit who has ravaged northern China, has been struck down by a chance bullet while raiding a city of Honan province.

The cable message was brief. As circulated in Chinatown, it indicated that White Wolf was mortally wounded by a chance bullet and dragged himself to a place of hiding in which his body was later found, presumably after his leaderless bandits had withdrawn from the s...

BATTLE OF CROISILLES IS STILL IN PROGRESS

French Claim Success at Guise—Amiens Free From Germans Who Press Forward But Fail to Break the Anglo-French Line

London, Sept. 1.—The Times correspondent at Dieppe sends the following: "I have just returned from the Amiens district to send this dispatch. A great battle has been fought at Croisilles and it is probably still in progress.

"The French claim a success toward Guise, but south of it all Saturday there was heavy fighting. On the left I know cannonading was still going on at noon Sunday, and that at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon there were no Germans in Amiens. Whether, as some declare, the lines between Amiens and Boulogne have been cut I do not know."

The Anglo-French army corps have had to give ground but nowhere have they been broken through, is the statement given out at the French embassy in London to-day. This announcement is a summary of that part of the official communication of the French war office referring to the German attack on the French left wing, made public in Paris last night.

Lille, Roubaix and Tourcoing Free.

A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Paris says that a member of the French chamber for one of the northern departments of France, who has arrived at the French capital declares there are no Germans at Lille, Roubaix or Tourcoing.

This group of towns are in the department du Nord and all within twenty miles of the Belgian frontier. Dispatches last week said they had been occupied by German troops.

To-day is the anniversary of Sedan and it is fully expected that the German army in France will make a supreme effort to celebrate it in some strikingly effective manner.

Fighting has been resumed all along the front, according to the official French advices, which admits that the German right wing continues its advance. No other details of this fighting have come through, and it is not known whether the British army has again been engaged.

According to the Paris Temps, while the German forces are exhausting themselves by their tremendous exertions far from their base, the French by their superior transport facilities are able constantly to bring up fresh effectives so as to prolong the struggle indefinitely and wear the enemy down if they do not beat him.

A Times dispatch from Paris, speaking of the fighting in the north says: "Throughout the fighting of the last few days swarms of aeroplanes have circled in the city.

"The enemy's supply arrangements are reported to have broken down, their men in some cases subsisting on the flesh of horses. The British transport is working admirably. The spirits of the British and French armies are excellent."

TREASURES OF PARIS WILL NOT BE DESTROYED

New York, Sept. 1.—If Paris is taken by the Germans the art treasures of the Louvre will not be destroyed, according to Robert Weeks de Forest, president of the New York City Art commission, who returned from the war zone last week.

Both sides in the present war have held art of all kinds as almost sacred, Mr. de Forest said, but a loss of a certain amount of paintings, buildings and statuary, he added, is inevitable.

Mr. de Forest said he had personal knowledge that when Paris was besieged in 1870 the famous Venus de Milo was buried

CENSORSHIP TIGHT AT NOON BY ORDER

Believed Attack on Rear of German Army by British is in Operation.

New York, Sept. 1.—Dow, Jones & company, publishers of the Wall Street Journal, published the following item on their news tickers to-day: "London censorship was suddenly tightened at noon, without warning. Numerous dispatches relating to operations in France and Belgium were held up by the government's orders.

"Foregoing dispatch is highly significant. 'Operations in Belgium' may relate to a rear attack on the Germans by British troops, reported to have landed at Ostend."

FOOD IS BECOMING SCARCE IN BELGIUM

Germans Direct People to Supply Them With Bread, Meat and Wine Daily.

London, Sept. 1.—A Belgian businessman who has just arrived in London said that food was already scarce in Brussels.

"Only about one person in a hundred can afford eggs and milk," he said. "People who are rich enough to have milk twice weekly are considered lucky. The Germans have directed the suburb of St. Gilles to supply to the military 400 bottles of wine daily. Brussels proposes to contribute daily 70,000 pounds of bread, while the suburb of Audergham supplies 4,000 pounds of meat."

WIRELESS REMOVED FROM GERMAN SHIPS

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Louernzo Marquez, in Portuguese East Africa, dated August 31, recites that a sealed cord across the window of the wireless room of the German steamer Kron Prinz having been severed, the local authorities immediately removed the overhead wires from all ships detained at the present time at Louernzo Marques or any other port.

ST. PETERSBURG IS TO BE KNOWN AS PETERGRAD

London, Sept. 1.—10.10 a. m.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from St. Petersburg says that by imperial order the city of St. Petersburg, capital of the Russian empire since 1712, will henceforth be known as Petergrad. This change eliminates the Teuton construction in the name by which the chief city of Russia has been known since it was founded by Peter the Great in 1703.

RUSSIANS INFLICTED CRUSHING DEFEAT ON AUSTRIANS IN GALICIA

Turkey Orders Mobilization of Two Hundred Thousand—German Officers Are Sent From Berlin to Take Charge of Army—Declaration of War Expected.

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Rome declares that news has been received there from Bucharest, Roumania, setting forth that the Russians have inflicted a crushing defeat on the Austrians in Galicia. The Russians inflicted a loss of 20,000 on the enemy who sought to cross the Vistula.

Berlin Fears Advance of Russians.

The correspondent of the Express telegraphing from The Hague says: "There is grave feeling in Berlin over the advance of Russian troops. News that the emperor has left the western headquarters and moved to the Russian front has shown the residents of the capital where the immediate peril to their safety exists.

"The story has been circulated that the Russians are preparing to avenge Louvain by treating Berlin in the same way as the Germans treated that city. As many of the populace who can get away are going to Norway, Denmark and Switzerland."

All Mohammedans in Turkish Line.

Rome, via Paris, Sept. 1.—A telegram received in Rome from Berlin announces the mobilization of the Turkish army.

Following the advice of Field Marshal Baron von der Goltz, it is said, the Turkish government will form an army of the first line composed of 200,000 men, all Mohammedans.

Declaration Looked for at Once.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The British embassy has been informed by a cable from London that German officers had gone to Constantinople to take charge of the Turkish army and that a declaration of war from Turkey was expected. Plans are already under way to ask the American embassador at Constantinople to take charge of British interests.

Austrians Have Lost Very Heavily.

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg gives this comment on the Russian operations against the Austrians: "The Russian operations against the Austrians are considered by recognized military writers to have reached the stage when decisive victories may be within reach. Capture of the railroad centre forty miles south of Lemberg involves the rupture of railroad communication with the Austrian fortresses on the Dneister and in Bukovina. Thus the southern part of Galicia, as well as Bukovina is severed from the remaining portions of Galicia, except by a circuitous route across the Carpathians. As a result the iron ring is closing around Lemberg.

"According to the Russo-Slovo, the losses suffered by the Austrians in their desperate attempt to strike at the vitals of the Russian position in Poland aggregate tens of thousands of men, including the sixth Austrian corps, which, on its retreat between the western Bug and the Wieprz rivers was almost annihilated."

All French Reservists Called Out.

Paris, Sept. 1.—Official announcement was made this afternoon to the effect that the minister of war has decided to call out immediately all the reservists in the country who have not been previously summoned to the colors.

DECEIVED BY CAPS WORN BY SOLDIERS OF GERMANY

Pierre Gougon, of Chamber of Deputies, Killed on Battle Line.

Paris, Sept. 1.—The latest list of soldiers dead issued here includes the names of Pierre Gougon, of the department of Ain, the first of the numerous members of the chamber of deputies at the front to succumb.

A corporal in a convoy of wounded at Champigny says that in the fighting at Cuise a regiment firing on the line heard the signal to cease shooting. Immediately in front of them they saw soldiers wearing caps like the British. They advanced, cheering the British and were met by a deadly discharge of rifle fire. The Germans, he declared, had used this subterfuge to draw the French on.

DUCHESS AND STAFF WORKING AT NAMUR HELPING THE SICK

London, Sept. 1.—The anxiety of friends of Millicent, Duchess of Sutherland, was allayed this afternoon by the receipt of a dispatch from James Gerard, the American ambassador at Berlin, who telegraphed that he had finally ascertained that the duchess and her ambulance staff were all well and working at Namur.

LATE NIGHT WAR NEWS

BATTLE AT SEA COST GERMANY'S SHIPS 900

Enemy Was Lured From Shore Position and Then Badly Whipped

London, Aug. 31.—An official statement issued to-night says that of 1,200 men composing the crews of five German warships, sunk off Heligoland, only 330 were saved. The British casualties were two officers and twenty-seven men killed, nineteen seriously injured and nineteen others slightly wounded.

The Liberty, one of the British destroyers which took part in the battle, was hit by a shell, which shattered her mast and tore away part of her bridge first of all and then smashed her searchlights and killed her commander, Lieutenant-Commander Bartlet, and William Butcher, his signalman. Their deaths were instantaneous.

Accounts of the battle says it was perfect in execution as well as in plan. Led by the Fearless, a small detachment of destroyers crept within the German lines and down between Heligoland and the German coast. An aeroplane sighted them and gave the news to the Germans, whose destroyers then came out. The British destroyers lured the Germans to the open sea, where other destroyers were waiting, spread out in fan shape.

A small engagement followed, and then the German cruisers came out. The British light cruiser Arethusa, after a sighting shot, got her range splendidly and hit the foremost gun of one of the German cruisers, demolishing it. The Arethusa then fired a few broadsides at the enemy. Her practice was excellent. She hit a German cruiser, which at once burst into smoke and flames, but soon afterwards a German shell did some damage to the engine-room of the Arethusa.

The destroyers Liberty and Laertes fought a grand battle. A shell brought down the mast of the Liberty. The Laertes was hit amidships. Another shot went through her funnel, her forward guns were damaged and she received a shell in the dynamo room and a shell aft, which wrecked her cabin.

Many of the Germans landed from the British ships after the battle were wounded by revolver bullets. It is declared that the revolvers were used by German officers to prevent their men surrendering to the British boats which had put out to save them from drowning.

An official statement in describing the action between the British and German warships off Heligoland says: "The principle of the operations was a scouting movement by a strong force of destroyers to lure the Germans from home and engage them in the open sea."

After briefly describing the sinking of the German cruisers the Mainz, Koeln and Ariadne, the statement continues:

"Although only two of the enemy's destroyers were actually observed to sink, most of the other eighteen or twenty boats rounded up and attacked were well punished, and only saved themselves by a scattered flight.

"The superior gun power and strength of the British destroyers, ship for ship, was conclusively demonstrated. The destroyers did not hesitate to engage the enemy's cruisers, both with guns and torpedoes, with hardihood and two of them got knocked about in the process."

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS STOLEN AT GARDINER

Roseburg, Ore., Aug. 31.—Several thousand dollars were stolen last night by burglars who blew open the safe in the company store of the Gardiner Mill company, at Gardiner, Ore., seven miles northwest of Roseburg. There is no bank at Gardiner and the company carried a large amount of money on hand. A message received by the sheriff here said the exact amount of money in the safe had not been learned, but it probably was more than $5,000.

GENERAL PAU STRIKES HARD UPON GERMANS

Paris is Safe Behind Strong Line of Allied Armies

London, Aug. 31.—Philip Gibbs, correspondent of the Times, writes from Amiens, France, under date of August 29:

Looking back on all I have seen during the last few days, I find it difficult to piece together the various incidents and make one picture. It all seems to me now like a jig-saw puzzle of suffering and fear and courage and death. The French army and our British troops are now holding good positions in a much stronger and closer line, and are stemming the tide of the German hordes rolling up to Paris. General Pau, the hero of this war, after his return from the eastern front, where he repaired the deadly check at Mauhausen, has dealt a smashing blow at a German army corps which was striking to the heart of France. Paris is still safe for the time being, with a great army of allied forces, French, British and Belgian, drawn across the country as a barrier, which surely will not be broken by the enemy.

Nothing that has happened gives cause for that respair which has taken hold of the people whose fears have exaggerated the facts, frightful enough when taken separately, but not giving any proof that resistance is impossible against the emerging onslaught of the German legions. I have been into the war zone and seen during the last five days the men who are now holding the lines of defence. I have been among their dead and wounded, and have talked with soldiers marching fresh to the front. I have seen the horrid mess which is cleared up after a battle, and the grim picture of retreat. But nothing that I have seen or heard from either British or French leads me to believe the allies have been demoralized.

It is impossible to estimate our own losses. Our wounded are being brought back to Havre and Rouen, and undoubtedly there are large numbers of them, but pitting that at the highest, it is clear to me from all the information gathered during the last five days that there has been no overwhelming disaster.

At St. Quentin our main forces, which were pressed by enormous numbers, of the enemy, succeeded in withdrawing in good order, without having their lines broken, while inflicting terrible punishment upon the German right, as I shall show in this narrative. Retreats which seemed fatal when seen close at hand and when described by those who belong to broken fragments of extended sections, are not altogether disastrous in their effect when viewed in their right perspective away from the immediate misery which is their inevitable accompaniment.

The German audacity of attack against the heroic courage of French and British forces who fight every mile of ground during their retirement, is leading the enemy into a position from which there will be no retreat for their lines. Unfortunately there are hundreds of thousands of people who know nothing of the great issues, and who are possessed of a blind fear which has driven them from their towns, villages and homes. That is inevitable. When the Germans swept around Lille they found to their amazement that this town surrounded by forts had been abandoned and they had only to walk inside, having easy access to the town which should have been defended.

The last gap open was to the west of France. The left wing of the French, which was to the west of Mons, was supported by British troops, all too weak to sustain the pressure of the hordes which began to surge against them, and, realizing the perilous state of affairs, the brain at the centre of things, the controlling brain of General Joffre and his headquarters staff, saw that the position in the northwest of France was untenable and that the main army of defence should withdraw into a stronger and closer formation. It was then that a great panic began, increasing in speed and terror. During the end of last week I was in the midst of it and saw unforgettable scenes of enormous tragedy.

QUEEN OF BELGIUM TO FIGHT IF NECESSARY

London, Aug. 31.—The correspondent of the Express at The Hague gives another version of the conversation between King Albert and Prime Minister de Broqueville when the king expressed a determination to fight to the last.

The incident occurred in Antwerp on Saturday when the king said to the prime minister in the presence of the queen: "If necesarry you, my dear minister, and myself will take out our rifles and go to the front."

"So will I," said the queen, "and all Belgian women will go with me."

STORIES OF SOLDIERS ON MONS BATTLEFIELD

Heroic Resistance of British Under Smashing Blow of Great Numbers

London, Aug. 31.—Frederick Villiers, artist and war correspondent of the Illustrated London News, writes

A long train moves slowly into the station. It is marked with great crosses in red paint on a white base at the doors of every compartment, and these compartments are roomy wagons. The floors are covered with clean straw, laid thickly. They are crowded with men in khaki, men with smiling faces, but every one of them wearing bandages, or a sling somewhere on his body. In a wagon which had been drawn up just opposite me, behind the men who stand are others who lie quiet under the thick coverings, some moving uneasily and others very still.

These are the wounded from the battlefield of Mons, a name which will surely rank high among the place names of British history. The battle was begun on Saturday, August 22. The first German attack was delivered with great suddenness and terrific force.

"We were in the trenches waiting for them," one of the soldiers said to me, "but we did not expect anything like the smashing blow that struck us all at once. The sky began to rain down bullets and shells.

"At first the shells went very wide, for their fire was bad, and after a time—I think a long time—they got our range. Then they fairly mopped us up. I saw shells bursting to the right and to the left of me—saw many good comrades go.

"But we stuck. We were able to stick because their infantry shooting was so poor. It was simply laughable. In fact, they could not hit us, though their bullents were singing away over our heads as thick as flies.

"Our officers were grand. Every man was proud of them. All the time they kept telling us: 'Keep your head and shoot straight. Take careful aim and watch where your shoot.' We did.

"The Germans came up in thousands. I saw ranks and ranks of them coming along. We swept away one rank and there was another. We swept that away and a third was waiting behind it. On they came over the bodies of their friends, solidly, like wooden soldiers, and as regular as a clock, but we tore into them with our rifles terribly."

Another soldier described the effect of the German shell fire. "There are hundreds of our fellows," he said, "who have nothing but shell wounds, terrible gashes some of them. Their shelling was dreadful once they got our range, though it took them a long time to get it.

"We were stretched out in a place that seemed to be full of coal pits. Their artillery was on the height and had the distinct advantage that it was much more powerful than ours. So far as numbers were concerned, if it had only been a matter of shooting we should have laughed at them.

"But we really did catch it. We did not seem to be properly protected by our guns, and I think our guns were too far back. Their cavalry kept charging us fiercely. I saw one great rush made, a rush that brought them right up to our lines. Our front ranks stood up with their bayonets and our back ranks kept firing. We broke them up. Hundreds of them fell out off their saddles and the rest dashed off.

"I saw something of our cavalry too, and it was splendid. I saw a charge which broke through the German lines. The men simply cut down the enemy, who turned and ran. They were nearly cut off, however, and had to fight their way back again."

The idea that during the early part of the encounter, the infantry was not fully covered by the artillery seemed to be strong in the men's minds. The truth, no doubt, is that the Germans had a much greater number of guns, and so were able to inflict terrible loss in spite of the counter attack. All were agreed in saying that the French and British gunners worked splendidly, showing the most deadly marksmanship and affording great help to the infantry in their retiring movement.

The retiring movement was absolutely necessary. The Germans were in such enormous numbers—a proportion estimated by some as high as three to one—that it was exceedingly difficult to carry it out successfully because the German forces were constantly pressing behind with their clouds of cavalry harassing the flanks.

But our cavalry behaved like heroes. I was told of one regiment which rode backwards and forward through the enemy's ranks seven times. That regiment, alas, was decimated.

The mass formation of the kaiser's army appears to have impressed the Frenchmen and Britishers very deeply.

"I never saw anything like it," one of them told me. You know how we take cover at once—well, they didn't. Some of the fellows said they saw them lie down, but I can't say I did. They just seemed to rush and on and on, but we held on, and holding saved us."

These are incidents, of course, narrated by men whose perspective has been shortened, but from the mass of them one may conjure up a dreadful picture, and the chances are that even a vivid imagination will fall of reality.

Our losses were severe; it is idle to blink at this fact. But they were small compared with the loses of the enemy. Moreover, our wounded are in many cases only slightly injured. Here, as in Belgium, the German bullet seems to be a less deadly missile than might be expected. It is too sharp.

The battle continued with little interruption throughout Sunday and Monday. Our men had now fallen back to the positions assigned to them, and the enemy gradually ceased to attack. Apparently they were exhausted.

There can be no doubt that only in their artillery fire did they really achieve important success. Their infantry work is described as laughable; their cavalry, too, was inferior.

The full story of the work of the British hussars and lancers has still to be written, but it will be glorious. The troopers literally flung themselves on their foes.

Several other incidents, more or less of detailed character, were related to me.

One soldier said that he saw a corps of forty cyclists literally cut to pieces. Only four of them escaped, while another soldier told me a remarkable story, which I afterwards heard from another source, but which nevertheless I give with reserve.

A number of British, believing themselves safe, had undressed beside a stream and had entered the water. Just at this moment a party of German lancers appeared over the neighboring crest and charged down on the bathers. Most of the British soldiers were naked, and all were unarmed. The soldiers sprang for their rifles and knelt down, shooting with what speed they could. Meanwhile the British cavalry, which had witnessed the attack, came upon the Germans like a thunderbolt.

The latter, taken by surprise, stayed their work to meet the new danger and attacked the lancers, but our cavalrymen rode through them, inflicting terrible losses, and drove them off.

Washington, Aug. 31. — Brigadier-General Funston has reported to the war department that Provisional President Carranza has declared the port of Vera Cruz closed. Funston states this will have a serious effect on the city's food supply.

AN EASY WAY TO GET FAT AND BE STRONG

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its re-generative, re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. D. E. Campbell and other leading druggists of Victoria and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

CAUTION:—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

PUBLICATION OF LISTS OF DEAD IS STOPPED

German Newspapers Allowed Only to Deal With Casualties of Their Own Districts.

London, Sept. 1.—The Mail says that the German military authorities have forbidden publication of further casualty lists in the newspapers. The local newspapers are allowed to publish casualties of purely local interest from the lists posted in the offices of the local administration.

It appears, says the Mail, that the enormous casualties suffered from the British are being carefully concealed.

FIVE HUNDRED CALGARY MEN WAITING TO SERVE

Canadians Will Not Go Straight to Front; Receive Training First.

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—The latest offer received is from Major Duncan Stewart, of Calgary, who wants to be allowed to recruit five hundred men without charge to the government for pay or food until the force is entrained at Calgary. Major Stewart served in South Africa with the first Canadian contingent.

Number five company, Canadian Army Service Corps, 121 strong, and the Ottawa overseas infantry company, 100 strong, left for Valcartier camp yesterday.

There is a persistent report, amounting to a belief in military circles, that the Canadian contingent at Valcartier will not be taken direct to France, but will spend a month or two training at Aldershot first. A large proportion of the men are wholly untrained, and it is thought that the British war office will not let them go to the front without further instructions.

LAND POLICY FIRST FOR CARRANZA PARTY

Large Holdings Will Be Cut Up for Purposes of Cultivation

Tampico, Mexico, Sept. 1.—Foremost among the problems to be solved by the constitutional government when once it is fully established at Mexico City, is the distribution of land. It is expected that Luis Cabrera, one of the leading lawyers of the republic and who holds the confidence of General Carranza, will be asked to draft some measure that will facilitate the transfer of lands from the present large holdings to individuals who will be required to till the soil.

Senor Cabrera a short time ago defined what was meant by the Mexican land question. He pointed out that the social, economic and political aspects of the question were related to each other so closely that the one aspect could not be separated from the others. The local governments of the different states, it was learned, including nearly all the important public offices, were almost always in the hands of or controlled by wealthy families owning large tracts of land.

These owners look after their own interests entirely. Torres and Izabal, in Sonora; the Terrazas, in Chihuahua; Garzal Galan, in Coahuila; Redo, in Sinaloa; the Obregons in Guanajuato, and the Escandons in Morelos were cited as families whose possessions run into the thousands of acres each.

"The political and social influence exerted by landholders during General Diaz's administration," Senor Cabrera said, "was so considerable and so advantageous to them that it hampered the development of the small agricultural property, which could otherwise have been formed from the division of the ecclesiastical and communal lands.

"Large estates, called haciendas, pay only 10 per cent. of the taxes levied by law as a result of misrepresenting the value of the property, while the small landholder is obliged to pay the whole tax imposed, as he is unable successfully to misrepresent the value of his small holdings, and as he lacked the political influence to obtain reductions.

"As the result of this system of inequitable taxation there has come the gradual disappearance of small holdings which were absorbed by the large estates. This system was continued all through General Diaz's administration, thus increasing the power of the great landholders, and accentuating the contrast between the higher and the lower classes."

Senor Cabrera stated that the communal lands, or "egidos," used to be the means to ease to a certain extent the conditions in which the small agriculturists found themselves by affording them the opportunity of increasing their income out of what they could get from these "commons."

But the condition of actual servitude in which the people always had been was accentuated and aggravated when the "egidos" disappeared, because on the one hand he was no more in a position to resort to the products of these communal lands, and on the other the great influence of the landholders was used as a political means to make peons work on the haciendas and keep them in an actual state of slavery.

Senor Cabrera declared that to obtain permanent peace in Mexico it would be necessary to make new laws. He affirmed that the constitutionalists mean to begin immediately such economic changes, and especially such agrarian reforms as are necessary to offer the lower classes an opportunity for improved conditions.

This improvement, he said, will come through the division of the large estates, equalization of taxation, and in places where it would be necessary, the re-establishment of the "egidos," or communal land system.

SURVIVORS OF NORTH POLE PARTY RETURNED

Lieut. Seidoff, Head of Expedition, Died From Privations of Journey

London, Sept. 1.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Reuter Telegraph company reports that surviving members of the Arctic expedition, headed by Lieut. Seidoff, which left for the north in 1912, have arrived at Archangel.

The survivors stated that Lieut. Seidoff died in a vain attempt to reach the North Pole. The expedition wintered in 1912 and 1913 in newly discovered territory and later Seidoff proceeded to Franz Josef Land, whence he started for the pole, accompanied by two sailors. The leader fell on the way and died.

The Russian government sent an expedition to the relief of Lieut. Seidoff early in 1914, and it is probable that this expedition effected the rescue of the survivors.

According to Lieut. Seidoff's plans the expedition, on reaching Franz Josef Land, was to divide itself in two parts at the beginning of 1913. The polar party, consisting of the lieutenant and two companions, was to make a dash for the pole, while the other members remained at winter quarters to carry on scientific work.

The first subscription to defray the expedition expenses was $5,000 given by Emperor Nicholas.

Lieut. Seidoff has been credited with the novel idea of using polar bears to draw his sleds.

BRITISH AND FRENCH SOON BEAT AUSTRIANS

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Cettinje states that the Austrians, supported by the Cattaro batteries and their fleet on Sunday re-attacked Mount Lovchen and Budua. The Montenegrin positions were being seriously damaged when the British and French fleet appeared, silenced the batteries and forced the Austrian ships to beat a hasty retreat.

The Montenegrins, under Prince Peter, immediately began a counter attack on the Austrian forces and repulsed them. They killed 250 men and took many prisoners, including several officers. Two pieces of artillery also were captured.

Tires At Extra Prices

Nowadays, 18 American and Canadian makes of tires are costing more than Goodyear prices.

Some makes cost one-third more.

One-third more than No-Rim-Cut tires—the world's top-place tires—the tires that outsell any other.

Consider what that means.

It means $5 to $15 extra on each tire you buy. It means one-third more tire upkeep—unless they are better tires.

It means that three of the extra-price tires cost as much as four No-Rim-Cuts.

It means that the same price—or less—would buy a half-inch wider Goodyear.

Extra prices are unjust.

No man knows of any way to build better tires than Goodyears. Goodyear spends $100,000 yearly in the aim to find a way.

In the four ways listed at the right no other tire equals the Goodyear. Men have bought four million Goodyears in Canada and elsewhere. They have tried them out. As a result, they buy more of them than of any other tire.

That any tire can be worth one-third more is simply unthinkable.

Tires With Extra Features

In No-Rim-Cut tires—at Goodyear prices—we give you these four extra features. Not another tire at any price offers you any one of them:

The No-Rim-Cut feature—the one faultless way to end rim-cutting. It completely wipes out the greatest source of tire ruin.

Our "On-Air" cure—a cure, under road conditions, to save the blow-outs due to wrinkled fabric. This one exclusive process adds tremendously to our manufacturing cost.

Our large rubber rivets—formed in each tire by a patent method to combat tread separation. They reduce this danger by 60 per cent.

Our All-Weather tread—the tough, double-thick anti-skid. The only anti-skids which run as smoothly as plain treads. The anti-skids with deep, sharp, bulldog grips.

Those are costly features. On their account No-Rim-Cut tires used to be the high-priced tires. But we gave you the savings due to increased output and efficiency. No-Rim-Cut tires now cost half the old-time prices.

They are made in Canada at our Bowmanville, Ontario, factory, where methods and equipment are exclusively Goodyear.

And, with all their exclusive features, they cost you less than 18 other makes. Ask your dealer for Goodyears.

MONEY ORDERS RESUMED BUT HAS LIMITATIONS

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—The postmaster-general has issued instructions to the different postmasters and inspectors throughout the country for the resumption of money order business between Canada and Great Britain on a moderate basis. Correspondence has been passing between the United Kingdom and Canada since the suspension of the money order service in order to ascertain if it were not possible to make some arrangement by which the business men of the community could be accommodated.

It has been determined that, in view of present conditions and the lower rates of exchange, it would be safe to issue money orders at a premium of four cents on the pound or fraction of a pound, instead of the old rate of 4.87.

This means a premium of four cents on the old rate of exchange, and this premium may be changed as the rates of exchange are changed. That is, if the rate of exchange runs up to six cents, the premium charged will be two cents, the additional charge varying according to the rates of exchange.

It is further determined that no one person shall be permitted to purchase money orders exceeding $100 on any one day. This is done to prevent loss to the department by persons endeavoring to speculate in the exchange. Money order business will be resumed within a day or two, just as soon as the money order offices throughout the country can be informed of the facts.

FOUR MEN GUARANTEE WAR TAX OF BRUSSELS

Same Treatment Would Have Been Given as That at Louvain, Otherwise.

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch to the Express from The Hague says the four richest men in Belgium have guaranteed the payment to Germany of the war tax which the Germans levied against Brussels. The four men are Ernest Solvay, "Alkali King"; Baron Lambert, Belgian representative of the Rothschilds; Raoul Warcoque, mine owner, and Baron Empain, railway magnate.

"Had not this guarantee been given," says the correspondent, "Brussels would probably have been treated as Louvain was. Big guns were mounted in front of the palace ready for bombardment."

THE WAR.

No attempt is being made to conceal the perturbation felt in Berlin over the Russian advance. The Kaiser has left for the east, following numerous reinforcements, which indicates that the German military authorities realize that the Russian armies have become a formidable menace. It is only a matter of time when the Slavs will inflict decisive defeats upon the Austrians because of the admirable disposition of their forces, which would hasten the downfall of the dual monarchy. Germany, which has inspired the aggressive policy of Vienna during the last seven years, is bound to exert herself to the utmost to save her ally, besides taking care of herself, but this will require the bulk of the German army. Russia's armies are reported to comprise four million men, and there are almost as many more guarding the lines of communication. They are laying railroad tracks adapted to their rolling stock on the roadbeds of the German lines in East Prussia as they press forward. South of Lemberg, in Galicia, Russia has seized the lines of communication and thereby isolated the Austrian forces operating in Russian Poland from their bases. Should the Austrian armies in that region suffer a reverse their ruin would be irreparable.

In the west the allies are reported to have held their own. Their right and centre have thrown back the attacks directed against them, while their left has given ground. We do not take much stock in the alarmist significance attached to these retirements. Most of them, judging by Earl Kitchener's announcement, are strategic, and it would not be at all surprising if the compact masses of the allies now based upon their most formidable posts, inflicted a crushing reverse upon the invading horde. The German troops are now a long way from their bases. Their lines of communication can be only indifferently protected, no matter how many soldiers they may have in this theatre. Were the allies to deliver an overwhelming attack upon their wings or centre the German army of invasion, comprising the pick of their soldiers, would be hopelessly demoralized. We look for tremendous fighting along this front in the next few days. To-day is the anniversary of the Emperor Napoleon's surrender at Sedan forty-four years ago and each side will try to commemorate that event by a prodigious feat—the French to wipe out the stain of surrender and the Germans to duplicate the achievement of Von Moltke.

Although a considerable portion of Northern France has been brought under the domination of the Germany army, it should not be forgotten that the German campaign in the west has failed in its main object. That object was to wreck the French armies, rendering them useless for further aggressive purposes, incidentally detaching France from the allies' cause, within three weeks after the outbreak of war. Within five weeks the Germans, according to the vaunts of authoritative Berlin sources, were to be on the line from Vilna to St. Petersburg. The facts are that the allied armies are unbroken; they have not been locked up in fortresses, upon which the Germans, remembering Bazaine in Metz in 1870, counted, and they have no intention of permitting themselves to be isolated. It is wholly unlikely that the Germans will make a serious attempt to invest Paris unless they can paralyze opposition from the allied field forces, because this alone would require at least half a million men, while several million more would be needed to meet resistance elsewhere in France and to protect their lines of communication. Nor does this take into consideration the constant stream of reinforcements which will flow into France from Great Britain and her dominions. Unless Germany can absolutely crush the allied forces her campaign against France, in view of the pressure on her east, will be as much of a failure as the first Napoleon's expedition to Russia. The great emperor held Moscow, and yet had to admit defeat.

There can be no question now that the Germans wholly outwitted the French in regard to Lorraine. They anticipated an early raid into the "unredeemed" province and left just enough troops there to put up a show of resistance and draw the invaders on. Meanwhile they continued massing troops in Luxemburg and Belgium with the object of concentrating their main attack upon the lines along the Meuse. Their strategy succeeded. France employed a considerable number of her effectives in Alsace and Lorraine, affording the Germans plenty of time to gather in overwhelming mass for the most convenient route into France. This, fortunately, and the German gains generally, are but incidents in what may be a prolonged struggle which can have but one conclusion.

SEIZURE OF SAMOA.

An interesting feature of the capture of the Samoan Islands, Germany's chief base in the southern Pacific, is that it was effected by an expeditionary force from New Zealand in conjunction with British warships. New Zealand thus is the first of His Majesty's overseas dominions to accomplish a definite practical result against Germany by force of arms. While our sister dominion's geographical situation is such than an expedition to Samoa was no surprise, it is not a little inspiring to see one of the lion's whelps seize an enemy's bone and hold it.

The seizure of the Samoan islands closes another haven of refuge for the Leipzig and Nuernburg. There is now no friendly port in the Pacific where they may find shelter and replenish their supplies. They may attempt to reach the Atlantic and join the German cruisers off the South American coast. Those vessels could obtain coal in South American ports if they have enough now to take them there, which is doubtful.

Up to 1900 the Samoan Islands proved a fruitful source of friction between Great Britain and the United States on one side and Germany on the other. The two parties supported rival aspirants for the Samoan crown, and several local clashes occurred. Finally Great Britain and the United States withdrew on being compensated by Germany in other ways. Samoa's chief port, Apia, was the scene of the memorable storm twenty-five years ago, when the British warship Calliope, through magnificent seamanship, succeeded in driving out to sea in the face of the hurricane, while American and German vessels went on the rocks.

NO "BLUFFING."

The report of Sir George Buchanan, the British ambassador to Russia, of his efforts at St. Petersburg to avert war, contained this paragraph: "The French ambassador, however, thought that Austria had made up her mind to act at once or that she was bluffing."

Lest our contemporaries on the other side unduly plume themselves on the fact that they have succeeded in interjecting into the formal and precise language of diplomacy an American colloquialism, we would politely point out that the term "bluffing" antedates by many years the birth of the thrilling game of poker.

The root origin of the word "bluff," meaning hood-winking, deception, and so forth, may be found in ancient English, German and kindred tongues of a bygone vintage. Uncle Sam merely adapted it to the characteristics of an innocent recreation in which a fifth ace causes no little embarrassment and inconvenience. In fact, we are not sure he did not design the game with the word as the corner stone. We do know that the game was not the parent of the word.

We know, also, that Austria was not bluffing, and the evidence shows that Russia was determined to play her hand for all it was worth. As against France and Russia the Kaiser also backed his cards, but he did try strenuously to bluff Great Britain away from the board. That particular bluff was called with a hand that holds all the trumps on the seven seas.

"ENLISTED FOR THE WAR."

The Boston Transcript, one of the sanest newspapers on the continent, shows its thorough understanding of the British character in the following editorial:

"Lord Kitchener's first speech in the House of Lords as military general manager for Great Britain breathes the sentiment of the man and the sentiment of the nation. He is cool, deliberate, neither overstating nor underestimating the perils of the contest. It is no 'military promenade' to which he invites his countrymen, but a war to be fought to a finish, a war which will make tremendous exactions on British manhood and British money.

"Kitchener embodies the British national character. The old racial traditions speak in his words. The descendants of the Britons who for almost a quarter of a century kept up the struggle against France, who continued to face Napoleon when their allies were compelled to forsake them, form Kitchener's appreciative audience. With less enthusiasm than the French, the British have more endurance. They never know when they are defeated. They rise from a lost round ready to renew the fray. Their greatest antagonist paid tribute to their constancy in admitting that every rebuff they received simply stimulated them to new exertions. New exertions they will have to make now, precisely as their forefathers of one hundred years ago were compelled to make exertions when they stood in the gap against the greatest military genius the modern world has known. Great Britain has 'enlisted for the war,' even if that war lasts three years, as Kitchener thinks possible."

POSITION OF SOUTH AFRICA.

The question often is asked, where does South Africa stand in the crisis facing the British Empire at the present time? Through the courtesy of Mr. A. G. Judd, for many years a resident of British South Africa, now living in Victoria, the Times has received a copy of a journal whose contents leave no doubt in the mind as to the position of the great colony of the Dark Continent. The Boers are just as solidly behind the Empire to-day as the most loyal Canadians. The journal in question says of the situation: "To-day South Africa stands absolutely united for the British flag and for British ideals. Fourteen years ago the Empire was a novice for purposes of Imperial defence, but the South African war changed all that. By the time the present enormous struggle is over we shall all probably have a clearer view—as certainly will South Africans—of the extent to which that South African campaign was inspired by Germany, arising as it did from exactly such a campaign of misinformation and misrepresentation as has broken down before the recent blundering diplomacy of the German war party. Every South African to-day is a loyal and enthusiastic supporter of the Empire, which he has proved to be the foe of all tyranny. That accounts for the solid position of the Union and Rhodesia. Of equally practical use to the Empire is the present employment, not by the Mother Country alone, but by each of the Dominions, of just that machinery which was found so effective in the South African campaign. As our pages show, South Africans in the Union and elsewhere are taking a foremost part in the organization of auxiliary fighting forces for the assistance of the British army."

The Journal contains illustrations of Britons and Boers, leaders and generals prominent on both sides in the late unpleasantness, sitting in council and devising measures for the assistance of Britain in the great struggle which is destined to make material changes in the map of Europe.

TO-DAY'S SUMMARY.

The absence of news concerning the progress of the European war is to-day most marked. Not since the early days of August, when military operations first took serious form, has there been such a dearth of intelligence, official or otherwise. It is estimated that there is a concerted effort on the part of both the British and the French authorities to keep the world at large in absolute ignorance of what is transpiring in Northern France.

This veil of secrecy, drawn tighter to-day than at any time in the last thirty days, may be taken as an indication that events of importance are transpiring in Northern France. A similar silence was observed during the fighting around Mons, Cambrai and Lecateau last week.

The latest official report on the situation north of Paris was issued last night. It is said that the French left, owing to the progress of the German right wing, should be forced to "mark a new retirement." Explaining the announcement, the French embassy in London to-day said: "The Anglo-French army corps had to give ground but nowhere have they been broken through."

The fighting to-day, in which the allies are believed to be opposing the German advance, is thought to be centred around LaFere, a strongly fortified French possession on the river Oise, seventy-five miles northeast of Paris. The fate of the French capital may hang on the outcome of these operations.

It is not definitely known whether the British troops in France have been engaged again or not.

A news dispatch from Dieppe says a great battle has been fought at Crosilles and probably is still in progress. No details are given nor has the report been received from any other source. Croisilles is ten miles southeast of Arras, in the department of the Pas de Calais, and is about fifteen miles from Cambrai.

Persons reaching Paris from the north describe the operations of the allies as a defensive fight. A Frenchman who reached the capital to-day says there are no Germans in Lille, Roubaix or Tourcoing; a group of towns near the Belgian frontier, which were occupied by the Germans last week.

To-day is the anniversary of the Battle of Sedan, which was fought with disastrous results to the French in 1870. This coincidence draws particular attention to the outcome of the present operations, concerning which such impenetrable silence is being maintained in London, Paris and Berlin.

Rome has received a report from Roumania that the Russians have inflicted a crushing defeat on the Austrians in Galicia, the troops of Emperor Francis Joseph suffering losses declared to amount to 20,000. A news dispatch from St. Petersburg makes a similar claim, saying the Austrians in Poland have lost tens of thousands of men. Nevertheless reports from the eastern theatre of war continue to be conflicting. Both St. Petersburg and Berlin claim important victories.

By imperial order the city of St. Petersburg will henceforth be known as Petergrad, the change eliminating the Teuton construction in the name of the chief city of Russia.

An official announcement given out at Antwerp says the situation throughout Belgium is satisfactory. The Germans are said to have evacuated Aershott.

Refugees from Brussels say food is getting scarce and declare the German garrison to-day numbers not more than 10,000. German sentinels are posted at all the public buildings.

Queen Elizabeth of Belgium and her children, who arrived in London last night, are to-day the guests of Lord Curzon.

A news dispatch from The Hague says the four richest men in Belgium have guaranteed the payment to Germany of the war tax of $40,000,000 levied against the Belgian capital.

News dispatches published in London say that the people of Berlin, alarmed at the Russian advance, are beginning to leave the capital for neutral countries.

The Prince of Wales's relief fund is approaching the $10,000,000 mark. W. W. Astor has contributed $125,000.

This is Sedan day, and to celebrate the occasion the imagination of the Berlin authority who manufactures war news was working at high pressure.

A correspondent complains of the indifference of the city authorities regarding unemployment. As a matter of fact the municipal authorities are doing their very best under existing conditions to find employment for residents. Victoria, like every other city in Canada at the present time, and like every individual, must cut the garment according to the cloth.

"THE HOUR."

We've shut the gates by Dover Straits,
And North, where the tide runs free,
Cheek by jowl, our watchdogs prowl,
Grey hulks in a greyer sea.
And the prayer that England prays to-night—
O Lord of our destiny!—
As the foam of our plunging prows is white;
We have stood for peace, and we war for right.
God give us victory!

Now slack, now strung, form the mainmast flung,
The flag throbs fast in the breeze;
Strained o'er the foam, like the hearts at home
That beat for their sons on the seas.
For mothers and wives are praying to-night—
O Lord of our destiny!—
But we've no time, for our lips are tight
Our fists are clenched, and we're stripped to fight.
God give us victory!

The west winds blow in the face of the foe—
Old Drake is beating his drum—
They drank to "The Day," for "The Hour" we pray,
The day and the hour have come.
The sea-strewn Empire prays to-night—
O Lord of our destiny!—
Thou didst give the seas into Britain's might,
For the freedom of Thy seas we smite.
God give us victory!

Young Italian Started Trouble in Barber Shop on Fort Street Yesterday; Fined Ten Dollars.

"If he had not opened the door, I would have stuck the knife into him."

Such was the statement made in the police court this morning by an Italian youth named Albert Fatta, who made a scene in Wilson's barber shop yesterday on Fort street, and who was convicted to-day of assaulting the proprietor. He was sentenced to a fine of $10 or in default thirty days. The fine was paid.

The evidence of the informant, Mr. Wilson, was to the effect that Fatta was discharged on Saturday, and on Monday came back for some brushes which belonged to the shop but which he said belonged to him. When Wilson refused to give the Italian the brushes, Fatta became violent and pulled the knife out of his pocket. Fatta admitted to the magistrate that he would have plunged it into the informant had he not opened the door.

Henry Freeman, who works at the same shop, amused the court by declaring that he "just ran" as soon as ever he saw the knife, and lost the remainder of the incident.

Fatta was arrested by Constable Clark, who found the knife on his person, and took him to the station where he spent the night. Acting Magistrate Prior warned him never to attempt to use a knife again or a more serious charge would be laid against him.

Apparently unaware of the fact that the Dominion's royal commission has cancelled its visit to the West, Louis C. Doerr, of Clo-oose, has written the Victoria Board of Trade enclosing a list of openings for various enterprises which leading settlers there were desirous of presenting before the commission. Mr. Doerr calls attention to the opening up this summer of overland communication via Cowichan Lake to Nitinat Lake and Clo-oose, the residents now only awaiting the operating of the railway to make accessibility to this large tract of country easy and speedy.

Among the openings named in Clo-oose are fishing (commercial), agriculture, lumber industry, shingle mill, pulp mill, openings for hotels and a fine situation for a sanitarium.

Oak Bay Guard.—An average attendance of about ninety residents, unbounded enthusiasm, and skilled instruction from Chief Syme and several old army men, are making the Oak Bay guard as efficient a body of special police as could be found anywhere. The work at the present time is confined almost solely to infantry drill, and in this the men who are of all ages and deportment are becoming very proficient. Marching and squad formations are carried out with alacrity and steadiness, and a few weeks more drill will make the body ready for any emergency that may occur.

BILL PLEASES

Animals, Cyclists, Dancers, Duellists and Others Combine to Provide Diverting Evening at Pantages.

The bill at Pantages theatre this week is somewhat longer than usual, although the high quality of the various turns leads one to question why the good measure was increased by the additional number. A highly amusing comedy vein was introduced with the last clever turn, when Palfrey Barton and Brown justified their existence by a number of startling unicycle acts interwoven with ingenious buffoonery, some rich costumes which were parodies of more classical prototypes, dances and songs—a liberal admixture.

Following the Pantagescope Dave Wood's animal actors, showing dogs and Monkeys in scenes of everyday life as usually depicted through the medium of a playwright, gave entertainment to animal lovers. Animals are a never-failing source of interest to the play-goer, and the Wood's animals are particularly entertaining in their little mimicries of the human.

A very gorgeously-dressed turn is that provided by Meryle and Reta, among the particularly spectacular features of whose performance was the duel dance, in which the two fence for some time before one masters the other.

Listeners were somewhat surprised to hear the harmonious confusion of Dvorak's Humoresque and "The Old Folks at Home" which was introduced into the Rozellas' performance. A very charming harpiste, who seemed quite as much at her ease with a violin, and a flautist who also played a saxophone and horn, contributed several very popular numbers, including the Sextette from Lucia, and "Peg O' My Heart."

In "Night Hawks," a "comedy-drama of the underworld," five characters keep things doing in the wine room at the back of a certain metropolitan saloon, and fulfill all the popular traditions of what goes on behind the scenes in contravention of all laws to the contrary.

The house was well-filled. This evening, on account of all the boxes being reserved for the second performance for the ladies accompanying the fire-chiefs at present in the city for the convention, those wishing boxes should reserve them for the first performance, commencing at 7.30.

PRESENT STRONG PLAY

Allen Players Cleverly Produce "Butterfly on the Wheel," at the Princess Theatre.

The Allen Players have once again succeeded in a very ambitious play, "The Butterfly on the Wheel," perhaps, at the time of its first production on the stage, one of the most talked-of plays of the year. Miss Verna Felton, it must be said, has applied her usual thoughtful consideration to the role of the Butterfly, Peggy, but has marred the part by the very seriousness of her effort. Peggy, the playwrights would lead us to believe, was an unconsciously naughty little person, ready for all sorts of escapades, but as unworldly as the most unsophisticated of maidens. The character is somewhat incredible in view of Peggy's upbringing, and it was probably her realization of this that placed Miss Felton in doubt as to the interpretation of the role—but at any rate there is not enough "butterfly" and too much "wheel" in the performance. In other words, it has such a thoughtful mould that Peggy, the gay, the thoughtless, in the first and second acts, is not sufficiently contrasted with the same Peggy under the crushing cross-examination of the powerful third act—which is the climax of this, after all, very remarkable play.

The remainder of the company did some astonishingly fine work, notably Arthur Kenck as the cross-examiner in question, Sir Robert Fyffe, in his remorseless quest of facts, and in his subtle insinuation of manner. Biron Fagen almost succeeded in disguising his own identity in the role of Lord Ellerdine, the peculiar type of obtuse Englishman still popular with playwrights despite its obsoleteness with novelists. The unfortunate part of Roderick Collingwood fell to H. Irving Kennedy, who might have infused a little more warmth into his manner in view of the impulsive character he impersonated. Mr. Connors made a dignified looking judge, and Miss Lillian Fischer, as Lady Atwell, retained the essential note of false sincerity until her exit from the stage.

Letter From Mrs. Hasell to Florence Nightingale Chapter Forms Interesting Feature at Meeting.

The Florence Nightingale chapter of the Daughters of the Empire met yesterday afternoon for the first time since the summer vacation, when one of the most interesting features consisted of the reading of a letter from Mrs. Hasell, who is at present visiting in England, and who expresses her gratitude at being able to see the splendid spirit of Britain during the distressful time through which the empire is passing.

"All," she says, "is quiet, grave, glad, and absolutely unselfish. Pettiness and domestic troubles seem dismissed, and we can only hope that the struggle will be short, sharp and so decisive that the nations shall not know war any more."

An effort to find out exactly what British Columbians could do to help is being made by Mrs. Hasell, who said that her cousin had received a letter from Lady Gladstone pointing out the necessity of organizing working parties at once, and recommending certain lines to be followed.

In England the people are as ignorant as here of the movements of the fleet, and all along the east coast the hospitals are waiting for the wounded who are expected after the first encounter. At Westminster abbey the Bishop of London preached the Sunday after the outbreak of war, when five thousand people were present.

Mrs. Beckwith, vice-regent, occupied the chair in the absence of the regent, Mrs. Hasell, and considerable discussion took place on the matter of the nature of the national service to be undertaken by the chapter. A donation of $25 was voted towards the Canadian Women's hospital ship, and it was decided to hold a further meeting to discuss some practical points in connection with supplies of socks, cholera belts, etc., for the troops.

Twenty-two new members enrolled.

ORPHEUM BILL CROWDS THE ROYAL VICTORIA

Several Pleasing Numbers on Varied Programme; Bright Sketch and Dancing

The taciturn and fun-hating Quaker of the olden time has furnished a motif for many a dramatic work, sometimes wedded to music, and the latest of these to be seen here is "The Last of the Quakers," in which Miss Hermine Shone and her company are appearing at the Royal Victoria as one of the head-liners of this week's Orpheum show. With the six other numbers on the bill it drew big houses to the theatre yesterday.

Miss Shone delineates the struggle between the natural inclinations of a healthy modern girl and her sense of duties to elders whose code of daily conduct is far different from the average one. The sketch, in which her little company ably seconds her, is composed in about equal parts of pathos, comedy and farce. It is well put on and the living-room in which the action takes place looks out on a peaceful rural scene that might be any one of a thousand lovely spots in the Quaker state.

A turn that is admirably staged and gives six excellent dancers the opportunity to display their agility and ability is that of the Six American Dancers, seen in a new arrangement of dances under the direction of Charles Lovenberg. Following a dainty dance by three young ladies, eccentric steps by one of the men as a wooden soldier and some fancy dancing by two others as hussars, the whole company is seen as the Indian, Mayflower pilgrim, Dutch, English, girl of 1850 and man of 1914.

Gormley and Caffery open the show in a really good exhibition of comedy acrobatics, in which the comedy member of the team especially does some clever feats, seemingly at the imminent risk of breaking his neck.

Closing the performance Harry Tsuda, who got a warm welcome last night from the audience on account of his nationality, shows what wonders can be done while balancing on a sphere. Each trick is more impressive than the preceding, until the one which brings down the last curtain, and in all of them the marvelous dexterity of the Orient is seen.

Finn and Finn, in patter and dance; Alf Grant and Ethel Hoak, in a bright line of talk and a little singing, and Maurice Burkhart and Elmoe White, in music and song, complete the bill.

A Smooth, Hairless Skin for Every Woman

(The Modern Beauty)

With the aid of a plain delatone paste it is an easy matter to rid the skin of unsightly hairy growths. The paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs not wanted and after 2 or 3 minutes rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. When you go to your druggist for delatone, be sure you get the genuine article.

The ugliness of avowed old age is less old and less ugly, to my thinking, if it is glossed over and concealed.—Montaigne.

Everything done now in parliament is done really more from the party point of view than from the public point of view.—Mr. Walter Long, M. P.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

The first of September is a date associated with a number of great events in Canadian history. In 1905 Alberta and Saskatchewan were admitted as provinces of the Dominion, and in 1860 the Prince of Wales, afterwards Edward VII., then a lad of eighteen, laid the corner stone of the Parliament buildings in Ottawa. By the magic of Victoria's choice the little lumbering village of Bytown was transformed into a capital city much to the chagrin of the older and larger cities. The burning of the Parliament buildings in Montreal by a mob destroyed that city's chances of becoming the seat of government of the Dominion that was to be, and during the following decade parliament sat alternately at Toronto and Quebec. Both of those cities, and several others, hoped to win the permanent capital, but the Queen's choice fell on Ottawa. This choice aroused much bitter feeling, and became a political issue which resulted in the defeat of the government of Colonel Tache and John A. Macdonald, and the Liberals, under George Brown and A. A. Dorion, held office for two days. The future monarch was given an enthusiastic reception by the people of Ottawa and vicinity. More than a thousand men, mostly lumbermen, in a fleet of 150 bark canoes, met the prince and escorted him to Ottawa. It was a beautiful sunshiny day when the prince was driven through a street lined with cheering people to the Parliament buildings, where the stone was laid and a levee was held. After luncheon the prince was escorted by soldiers and red-shirted lumbermen to the head of a timber-shoot, where he boarded a raft to enjoy the novel experience of running the rapids. The concluding spectacle of the day was a canoe regatta. The Indians were there in force, and the principal events were won by the redskins.

SEATTLE ELEVEN WILL PLAY HERE

Arrangements Completed for Connaught Cup Finals at Winnipeg Next Week

The National football team of Seattle is willing to make a trip to Victoria for Labor Day to play an exhibition game with a local All-Star nine, providing that Victoria will play a return game at Seattle in the near future. A meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. next Wednesday at 8 o'clock to appoint a committee to handle the game.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—All arrangements are now completed for the Connaught cup finals which are to be played during the week commencing September 7 at Winnipeg. The present arrangement is to divide the series into two sections, east and west. Each section will play on league principles, and the winners of the respective sections will play off in one grand final. In addition to holding the Connaught cup for one year, the winning team will receive twelve solid gold medals, while the runners-up will receive twelve silver medals. At present only the champions of the eastern section have been determined. These are Lachine, Quebec; Eaton's, Ontario, and St. Paul's, New Ontario.

Vancouver, Sept. 1.—Mainland footballers are all ready for the opening of the championship season on September 19. The Vancouver and District league will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A., when the season's schedule will be drafted.

The vacancy caused by the withdrawal of the V. A. C. from the senior division will be filled by the Caledonians of North Vancouver. Last year the latter defeated Coquitlam in the charity cup competition.

The senior series will consist of eight teams this season. The clubs already lined up are B. C. Electric, Cedar Cottage, Coquitlam, New Westminster United, St. Andrews, Kitsilano and Celtic. The V. A. C. was the eighth club, but North Vancouver will round out the series nicely.

RIDERS TO PRACTICE AT WILLOWS TO-DAY

Arrangements have been made to have the first practice of the motorcycle riders at the Willows this evening in preparation for the coming motor meet at the Willows on Labor Day. The following will take part in the work-outs which will be held from 5 to 7: E. Hanbury, B. Carmichael, A. H. Bailey, W. Anderson, A. H. Middlestadt, J. Market, A. Miller, P. Christie, C. Mitchell, A. MacDonald, B. Tubman, S. Gordon and J. Rose. In addition to the above there will be a number of Vancouver and Seattle riders included in the entries for the big meet.

In the race for touring cars the promotors have decided to have this event in two heats because of the numerous entries. Stewart Gordon left to-day for Vancouver to make arrangements for the Vancouver riders and auto-drivers to be here on Saturday at the latest, so that they may practice Sunday morning at the Willows.

NEWPORT FINALS.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 1.—History repeated itself on the Casino courts yesterday when M. E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, and R. N. Williams, of Philadelphia, won their places in the finals of the all-comers' tournament for the national lawn tennis championship.

McLoughlin won his place in the finals by defeating the former champion, W. J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. Williams came through with a similar victory over Ella Fottrell, of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

TWO-CLUB LEAGUE THIS WINTER

P. C. H. A. WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

Seattle Arena Cannot Be Finished in Time; Portland and Westminster Are Very Doubtful

While no definite plans have been made by the officials of the Pacific Coast Hockey association for the coming winter, there is a strong rumor current that the league will operate this season with two clubs, Victoria and Vancouver. A story was published in Seattle last week from Vancouver, covering the plans of the Patrick brothers on this basis, but Lester Patrick stated this morning that nothing had been decided upon, though a meeting of the P. C. H. A. will be held within a fortnight to decide upon matters for the approaching hockey season. The arena at Seattle will not be completed in time for the coming season.

The new Portland ice palace will be ready in October, according to Vancouver capitalists who have helped to finance the undertaking. Of course, New Westminster still has its excellent arena, but it is doubtful if the royal city hockey officials will care to undertake the financing of a team for the circuit this season. They did not have a very successful season last winter, losing considerable on the year. Under the circumstances it is doubtful if they will want to repeat the experiment with chances of financial returns still more doubtful during the coming season. The royal city arena will probably be opened for ice skating as usual.

That leaves just the old rivals, Victoria and Vancouver, to battle it out under the energetic leadership of the Patrick brothers, Frank and Lester. But the hockey stars who received such fancy salaries last season will have to accept much reduced figures for the coming season or else they will not get a chance to play.

So, when the hockey magnates meet they will be faced with the question of having a four-club league to take in New Westminster and Portland, besides Victoria and Vancouver, or simply limit it to the latter two. As Westminster is doubtful and the cost of transportation to Portland makes it almost prohibitive in these troublous times of high tariffs and low gate receipts, it will not be surprising if the league is cut to the two clubs representing the capital and terminal cities.

RETIRES FROM SPORT

SI GRIFFIS

A member of the famous champion Kenora Thistles, declares he will probably retire from hockey for good for business reasons. When the Kenora team broke up and the players scattered Griffis came to the coast and he has played in the Patricks' league ever since it was formed.

POSTPONE MEET.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—Possibilities for the staging of the Canadian athletic championships in Montreal are not very bright, and it is not at all likely that such a meet will be held here at all this season.

Owing to the outbreak of war, the officials of the Charlottetown club, on whose grounds and under whose auspices the meet was to have been held, found themselves forced to postpone the meet, and it was thought best at the time to forget the athletic titles until another season rolled around.

CHANGES WILL BE MADE IN LOCAL TEAM

Victoria expects to score a win over Westminster at Oak Bay on Labor Day, when the Salmonbellies meet the locals in one of the important P. C. A. L. A. series. Manager Skinner Poulin is holding practices every evening and he will make several changes in the team to meet the Westminster twelve.

Another hitch has arisen in connection with the arrangements for the Toronto-Rosedale sawoff. It is about the division of receipts. Nationals suggest that the winners take all, but Rosedales wish to split 60 and 40.

M'HENRY CONQUERS SPOKANE INDIANS

Victoria Twirler Held Lynch's Team to Five Hits; Calvo Leads Local Attack

Spokane, Sept. 1.—"Pepper" McHenry, after several days' duty in the outfield, decided to do a twirling comeback against the Indians, and he evened up the series for the Bees, winning 5 to 1. The locals could not touch the Victoria slab-artist in the pinches, and with the Bees playing splendid ball behind him, McHenry won in rather easy style. Browning, whom Mike Lynch started, was wild and the visitors hammered the ball hard when hits meant runs. In addition they ran bases like champions, Calvo starring with two hits and a pair of stolen sacks. Driscoll was back in right field, contributing a double to the day's play. The score:

LATEST GOSSIP OF ORGANIZED BASEBALL

Owner Kingham did the right thing by the league in holding his franchise. Had he given up the game as a bad proposition financially, he stood to lose more money than he will by retaining the club.

☆ ☆ ☆

Victoria is pretty certain to lose Steele by the draft route, and McHenry cannot be returned to the Coast League club from which he was obtained. The deliverer of the underhand ball is a major league prospect.

☆ ☆ ☆

Mr Kingham will probably lose Narveson to the Coast league, Judge McCredie having intimated his intention of drafting the Bee pitcher.

☆ ☆ ☆

Judge McCredie will take Dan Murray, Nick Williams' hard-hitting (with fist) catcher, and also Tiny Leonard, provided he escapes the major league drag net.

☆ ☆ ☆

The major league drafting season opens Sept. 15 and the Class AA clubs have the right of draft a week later. Following them by a few days come the class A clubs, all of which may take players from any club of the Northwestern league.

☆ ☆ ☆

Schultz and Ingersoll, sold by Bob Brown, are with class AA clubs. Barham is with the Ogden club of the defunct Union association, and will report to the San Francisco Seals next February.

☆ ☆ ☆

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The office of the Chicago American League club has been notified by Manager Callahan that he has bought the release of Infielder Pick, of the Toronto club, of the International league.

☆ ☆ ☆

Hy West, considered one of the best pitchers in the Coast league, is to join Ballard to take the place of Frank Eastley, who has gone to the Portland Coast League team. Walter McCredie has nine pitchers now that Eastley has joined him. West has been complaining of a sore arm.

P. R. POMFRET WILL LEAVE CITY SOON

Victoria loses one of its most valuable sportsmen next month in the departure of P. R. Pomfret for the Transvaal because of the demise of his father. The retirement of this Royal Life Saving society officer was announced at the meeting of this body yesterday, and it is the intention of the society to make presentation to Mr. Pomfret before he leaves the city. Warren Long succeeds to Mr. Pomfret's post as chief instructor and W. Meed will act as secretary pro tem. A. J. Dallaine, chairman, presented Mr. Long with the society's diploma and special badge for having passed twenty pupils.

Minor changes in the conditions of the Desborough cup were made.

It was decided to carry out the competitions this year for the Benwell and Desborough cups despite the war. These will be held on the same date. Entries will close on October 15. An effort will be made to have them held in conjunction with an indoor championship swimming gala which the Y. M. C. A. has on its fall programme. Chief Instructor Warren Long will make all necessary arrangements.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Northwestern League Starts to Retrench.

In view of the fact that the Northwestern league clubs have been losing money for the past month because of the slump in the gate receipts, it was not unexpected that the league would take steps to protect its club owners. The whole point in this policy is that the players cannot expect to get any more coin than the club owners take in at the gates. It would be a different matter if the league was selling players as in the past, but this is not the case this year. The entry of the Federal league into the field has abolished this source of revenue and the minor league clubs are feeling the pinch. The cutting of the schedule two weeks does not mean that the league is disbanding. On the contrary, it is merely declaring the season closed and will retain its ownership of all players and territory now in its possession.

Pelkey Has Never Got Over Accident.

Arthur Pelkey has announced his retirement from the ring. He never has been able to get back his nerve since his fight with Luther McCarty. It was Pelkey's blow in the second round of that fight that sent McCarty down to his death. The shock of McCarty's death unsettled Pelkey's nerves and he never since has fought even a fair fight. There always was a sort of timidity about his actions. He was afraid to hit.

Was Very Annoying to Germans.

That must have been very annoying to the Germans at the wireless station at Sayville, L. I., when Sir Thomas Lipton's Erin wirelessed them Sir Thomas' thanks for their wireless messages, which they picked up on the north Atlantic, and which enabled the Shamrock and Erin to dodge the German cruisers. The Erin's operator picked up the Sayville station's messages to the warships, and was so enabled to keep tab on the German cruisers. The Shamrock arrived safely in New York.

Easy For Mackmen.

The American league race at this date is very much an affair of the Athletics, with the rest comparatively nowhere. There seems little prospect of any club preventing the Mackmen, with their eleven-game lead at this comparatively late stage of the season, from participating in the next world's series. They have won twenty-five out of their last twenty-eight games. Boston and Washington are now fighting for the second position, with the Red Sox having the better of it at present. Detroit has been slumping, with both Chicago and St. Louis picking up again.

Three pitchers may be enough for the Boston Braves to win the National league pennant, but in facing the Mackmen twenty-three pitchers are of but little use as long as only one can work at a time.

FRANK BARRIEAU GOES NORTH.

Frank Barrieau, the Vancouver welterweight boxer, has gone to Prince Rupert to box Romeo Hagan of Seattle fifteen rounds next Saturday night. Barrieau reports himself in good shape and expects to win well inside the limit.

LAWN BOWLING.

A number of lawn bowling games for the "OO" cup were played on the Beacon Hill Park Lawn Bowling club's greens Saturday, the results being as follows: Mowat beat Dunn, 17-13; Wood beat Fraser, 29-17; Wood beat Greenhill, 19-18. Shipping News from Day to Day

CANADA MARU HAS MANY PASSENGERS

From Victoria Liner is Taking One Hundred and Sixty-Five; Heavy Cargo

The Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Canada Maru, Captain Yamamoto, which missed the call here on the inward voyage, sailed from the outer wharf this afternoon for the Orient with a large passenger list. The greater number of those who are taking passage on her are Orientals embarking at this port.

There were 165 in all taken on here, and the immigration officials had a busy afternoon. In the number were Russians, Japanese, Chinese and Hindus, and these had commenced to assemble on the wharf early in the forenoon and to get their baggage ready.

From the Sound the Canada is taking about five thousand tons of freight for the east and United Kingdom ports. For Japan there is a heavy shipment of flour, machinery, and sewing machines. There are a great many passengers going to the Orient on board the vessel.

The Tacoma Maru, Captain Hamada, of the same line, is due in on Thursday but will not stop here. However, as she has neither passengers nor freight for Canadian points on this trip the cutting out of the call is immaterial.

LONGSHOREMEN AND SHIPPERS TO CONFER

A conference is in progress to-day in Seattle between the Pacific Coast district executive of the International Longshoremen's association and the Puget Sound Shipping association, and this will be followed by meetings here and in Vancouver.

This has to do with the scale of remuneration and the drafting of a new agreement to take the place of the existing one, which expires at the end of the present year. Officials of the longshoremen's organization who are expected to attend the conference are John Kean, San Francisco, president; J. A. Madden, Portland, secretary-treasurer, F. T. Bunting, Seattle, vice-president; P. J. Martens, Everett, and A. Jones, Tacoma, members of the executive.

The stevedoring firms and shipping interests here have always got on well together with the men, and the proposed meeting is not taken as anything except the usual formal preliminary to the conclusion of another agreement as to conditions of work and wages. On all hands there is expected to be a great increase in the volume of business here and at other North Pacific ports as a consequence of the opening of the Panama canal.

THROUGH SERVICE BY GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Passengers Now Go Direct From This City to East; Epoch in Transportation

A through service is now in operation over the Grand Trunk Pacific railway between Prince Rupert and Edmonton, connecting in the Alberta capital with the service which has been in operation for many months between that city and the east.

Passengers for the east who leave here on the Prince John on Thursday can go right through over the company's lines to their destination without further trouble than direct changes at Prince Rupert and Port Arthur, where they will take the Northern Navigation company's steamers for Sarnia, where connection is made with the Grand Trunk railway.

This marks the completion of the system so far as through service goes, though, of course, all-rail communication will not be ready until the completion of the National Transcontinental railway enables the company to operate trains through from this coast to the Atlantic coast.

The business of the company has been growing very much since the commencement of operation of the line east from Prince Rupert, and now that trains are being run from that point to Port Arthur, at the head of the great lakes, a great impetus may be looked for. It is understood that the business being done out of Victoria is far beyond the most sanguine expectations of the company at this stage of the undertaking, for which credit must be given to the business ability of C. F. Earle and J. D. McArthur, in charge of passenger and freight matters respectively here, and the work done by W. E. Duperow and his successors in office in the coast general offices.

ARABIC'S CAPACITY LIST.

The White Star liner Arabic, Captain Finch, from Liverpool, sailed from Queenstown on the evening of Wednesday last and is due in Boston on Thursday, according to advices received by the local agent, C. F. Earle. The Arabic is bringing on this trip 925 cabin and 444 third-class passengers, which is the largest one-cabin list ever carried across the Atlantic. This steamship only carries one-class cabin and third-class passengers. The former on this occasion are mainly returning Canadian and American tourists.

PRESIDENT CALLS IN.

The steamship President, Captain Zeh, of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, called at the outer wharf yesterday afternoon and landed several passengers who were booked for this city and the mainland from San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego.

KARLUK SURVIVORS NOT REACHED YET

Cutter Bear Driven Back by the Heavy Ice Encountered in Northern Seas

Nome, Alaska, Sept. 1.—The United States revenue cutter Bear, which arrived here last night from Wrangel island after an unsuccessful attempt to rescue the twenty-two castaways from the Stefansson ship Karluk, who have been on the island since March 10 last, reports encountering terrible weather off the island. She was obliged to turn back owing to lack of coal.

Capt. Robert F. Bartlett, late master of the Karluk, who was on the Bear, is greatly worried about the Karluk refugees, as they had supplies to last them only until August 10. Even if they have eaten their dogs they must be near the point of privation.

The Bear is taking on coal, and as soon as this work is completed she will turn back to the Arctic to rescue the prisoners. Nothing has been heard from the Russian ice-breaking steamer Taimyr since she entered the Arctic to take off the Karluk party, but there is hope that she may have succeeded, for she is well equipped for the task.

The Bear, after leaving Nome July 24, went to Point Barrow, the northern extremity of Alaska, to deliver the United States mail. She then proceeded west. Between Wrangel and Herald island, about fifteen miles from the former, she found her way blocked by mountainous ice. She cruised about three or four days seeking an opening in the ice.

During this time a terrific gale arose with a heavy snowfall. The Bear's rigging was thickly encased in ice, the decks piled high with snow, and the wireless aerial broken down by the burden of ice. The Bear would have continued the battle but for the approaching exhaustion of her coal, which obliged her to run for home.

On the Bear were several sailors from the whaler Elvira, which was crushed in the ice near Demarkation Point last fall. The Bear took them aboard at Point Barrow, where they had been brought by the whaler Belvedere. Some of the shipwrecked sailors were taken to a hospital here for treatment.

A heavy southeastern gale is blowing here, and the Bear cannot go out until it abates.

UNLOADS NITRATES.

The Norwegian steamship Cuzco, Captain Miller, arrived in port late last evening and is lying at the Victoria Chemical company's wharf, where she will unload some five hundred tons of nitrates which she brought north from Chile. The Cuzco called into Salina Cruz and took on a quantity of European and eastern States freight that had come by the Tehuantepec route, and some of this she discharged at Sound ports.

German Mine-Layer Which Was Sunk

The Konigin Luise, depicted in the above cut, was built in Germany for the Hamburg-American line last year, and at the outbreak of the war was taken by the German government for the purpose of strewing mines in the North Sea. She was driven by turbines at a speed of twenty knots.

SIX PERSONS DROWN IN GRAYS HARBOR

Swamping of Launch in Heavy Sea Throws Pleasure Party Into Breakers

Hoquiam, Wash., Sept. 1.—Six members of a boating party, two of them women, were drowned, and three others saved themselves by clinging to their overturned craft, when the thirty-two foot gasoline launch Sea Bird was swamped in the breakers a half mile off shore in Gray's Harbor Sunday night.

The dead are: Edward Miller and wife, W. H. Tucke, Louis Capelle, Mrs. A. R. Barkley, all of Aberdeen, and a man named Brecht, said to be a resident of Tacoma. The three who saved themselves are: Gus Byerk, W. S. See and A. R. Bargley, husband of the woman who was drowned. They are all residents of Aberdeen.

Louis Capelle was the owner of the launch. The party had been cruising about inside of the bar through the afternoon. When they attempted to cross the south jetty while a heavy sea was running, a breaker swept over the launch carrying five of the party overboard. A following sea then overturned the boat.

The three men who clung to it were saved by the tug Daring. Life savers who went to the scene of the disaster recovered two bodies.

"SEA WOLF" MISSING BLACK HAT IS FOUND

Captain Alexander McLean Last Seen Friday Night on Tug Boat

Vancouver, Sept. 1.—Captain Alexander McLean, known as the "Sea Wolf," being the principal character in Jack London's book of that name, has mysteriously disappeared and no trace of him can be found, although the police have been searching for him for the past three days. It is suggested that he may have met with foul play as his well known broad black hat was found on the deck of a tugboat in False Creek. The possibility of his having fallen overboard into the waters of the harbor is advanced, but after searching the seashore and waterfront for the past three days and nights, the authorities are beginning to think that something of a graver nature may have befallen him.

Capt. McLean was last seen on Friday night about 11 o'clock down town by the captain of the tugboat Favorite. Several boats were tied up together at False Creek slip, and it is stated that it was the intention of Captain McLean to go on board one of them. Since then nothing has been seen or heard of him. On Saturday his hat was found on the deck of one of the tugs, but it is thought that if he had fallen from the rail of one of the small boats he would have landed on the deck on one of the others. The only possibility of his having gone overboard is that he fell from the stern. He was a powerful swimmer and any outcry would have been heard.

Mrs. McLean is reported to be very ill in the hospital at Victoria, but Miss McLean, who resides in this city, is much alarmed at her father's absence and communicated with the police. Captain Charles Anderson of the harbor police has made a careful search of the waterfront and has dragged the harbor in the vicinity of the place where the hat was found but without avail.

SCRAP BOOK

Oyster to Have a Rival in Mussel, Whelk and Periwinkle.

This is Oyster day, when the "succulent bivalve" comes into its own, and before long epicures all over America will be indulging their taste for the delectable shell fish. For many centuries there has been an unwritten law that the oyster season extends only through those months which contain an "r," and the consumption of oysters is in consequence confined to the period between the first of September and the thirtieth of April.

If Uncle Sam's bureau of fisheries succeeds in a campaign of education recently undertaken, the oyster will soon have a serious rival in the mussel. At the instance of the fisheries experts, several hotel chefs have been experimenting with stewed, creamed, fried and roasted mussels, and epicures with educated palates have declared that the mussel, so long neglected on this side of the Atlantic, is as tempting a morsel as the oyster, when properly prepared.

The object of the fisheries bureau is to reduce the high cost of living, and experiments have been made with various other shell fish besides the mussel. The periwinkle, the cockle and the whelk, which are staple articles of diet in parts of Britain, are said to be abundant along the north Atlantic coast. It is not claimed that they equal the oyster or the mussel, from a gustatory viewpoint, but it is believed that in the course of time they will be used in large quantities by people unable to afford the higher priced bivalves.

Aside from its delicate flavor, the mussel ranks well in point of digestibility and it is has a fair amount of protein, while its fuel value is akin to that of the soft clam.

Until the "mussel trust" gets busy, there is every reason why the shell fish should be low in price. An expert of the bureau of fisheries, writing of this rival of the oyster, says:

"It is very widely distributed, extremely abundant and easily obtained. Mussels abound in the bays and estuaries of our Atlantic coast from North Carolina northward. They grow in great beds often acres in extent. A resident of Pawtucket, R. I., has written to the bureau that there are places in Narragansett Bay where a man could obtain fifty bushels a day for the whole season. He considers thirty-five cents a bushel a fair price. The total supply of New York City amounts to seventy-five barrels a day of mussels in the shell and 400 gallons of the pickled variety. This supply is furnished chiefly from the bays of Long Island."

The fisheries experts state that it is possible to increase the normal food supply in the market for edible mollusks by the increased use of the sea mussel by approximately twenty-five per cent.

"The sea mussel," says an expert, "has been utilized for hundreds of years in other parts of the world. American authorities have long urged its inclusion in the list of desirable comestibles. It is eaten raw or cooked in Portugal, Spain and France."

In the race for popular favor the oyster has a long start, however, and unless the mussel is a very fleet-footed bivalve it is highly unlikely that it will ever catch up. The experts declare that the mussel is palatable, nutritious, easily digested and economical, and it may yet come into its own. There was a time, not so very long ago, when it was generally believed that the tomato was a deadly poison.

Good Times Ahead

THE sudden breaking out of war caused many to "run to cover." Like the chicken on whom the rose leaf fell, some of us became a prey to fear and were ready to declare "the sky is falling."

Now our vision is clearing, our alarm has fled, we have recovered our poise and our courage. We are seeing, also, our opportunity. Swiftly and almost overwhelmingly has come to us the perception of the fact that the competition of Continental Europe has been taken away. We are faced with a condition and an opportunity both tending to our advantage as a country of industry, agriculture and trade. Good times are ahead, if Canada and Canadians see and seize the present opportunity for enlarging their industries and trading.

We must be careful We must have courage

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN COMPETE ON SEPT. 9

Alberni Will Be Scene of Contests Among Unpaid Brigades of Island

Alberni will be the Mecca of the volunteer fire brigades of Vancouver Island on September 9, as on that date the annual tournament at which the championship of volunteer fire departments for the Island is decided will be held.

A few years ago one of the most popular and spectacular of sports enjoyed by the public were the hose team events held regularly by the volunteer firemen. These events were usually connected with programmes prepared for general holiday entertainment, and invariably attracted far more attention and interest than any of the other contests on the card.

Most of the towns that contributed volunteer teams have outgrown volunteer protection, and now have large paid departments, and for a time this line of sport has been neglected. But a new family of towns has now sprung up. These towns have volunteer fire departments of the old popular make-up; and efforts towards the organization of a Volunteer Firemen's association for British Columbia are on foot among the various brigades.

Vancouver Island is leading in this movement. A handsome cup stands for the championship of the Island brigades. It must be competed for annually, being a perpetual trophy. It was presented by the Canadian Pipe Co., Ltd., of this city. This cup was first competed for at the volunteer firemens sports held in connection with the Victoria carnival of last year. Alberni city had the distinction of sending to the tournament a team capable of meeting all requirements of rules pertaining to the championship, and for their clean-cut work the men were awarded by the board of trustees the championship of the Island and the cup.

The tournament this year will be at Alberni city on Sept. 9, when the convention of Vancouver Island volunteer firemen will be held. Seven of the Island towns have arranged to send teams to compete. Sooke Harbor, Sidney and the Empress hotel team of Victoria on the south; Cumberland and Courtenay on the north; the two Albernis on the west; while other Island towns will, if possible, make like arrangements. Teams from the mainland will be eligible to compete in all but three events on the card, viz., the wet and dry tests and breaking hose line, which three events control the Island championship and holding of the cup from year to year. A fine programme has been arranged, and handsome trophies for each event have been provided, as follows:

Championship contest for Vancouver Island teams only, including: 1. Dry test, run; 2. Wet test, run; 3. Breaking hose line, run. Prize—Cup presented by Canadian Pipe Co.

Open Events.

For any volunteer firemen belonging to competing teams:

4. Hub and hub race, run. Prize—Silver bugle, presented by Gutta Percha & Rubber Co., Ltd., of Vancouver.

5. Ladder climbing contest, climber to run. Prize—Cup presented by Consolidated Rubber Co., Ltd., Victoria.

6. Tug-of-war between teams, to be pulled on the ground. Trophy—Cup, presented by Dunlop Rubber Co., Vancouver.

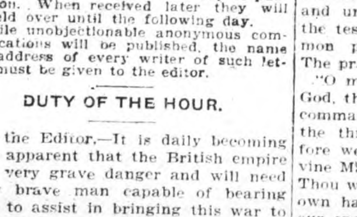
7. 100 yards swimming contest. Cup, presented by Chief Davis, Victoria.

8. 220 yards foot race. Cup, presented by A. C. McGregor, of the Canadian Pipe Co., Ltd., Vancouver.

9. 100 yards foot race. Cup, presented by M. F. Hill, of the Canadian Pipe Co., Ltd., Vancouver.

A smoker in the evening, when the prizes will be awarded and speeches will be delivered, followed by a ball, will round out the programme. A very enjoyable time is anticipated, and the instruction and training received will reduce fire risks and tend to make more loyal and useful citizens of all concerned.

Citizens of Victoria will have an opportunity to view the collection of prizes, as the awards will be on view in the windows of the Fit-Rite store this evening.



Letters for publication in Daily Times must be received at the Times Office not later than the day before the day of publication. When received later they will be held over until the following day.

While unobjectionable anonymous communications will be published, the name and address of every writer of such letters must be given to the editor.

DUTY OF THE HOUR.

To the Editor,—It is daily becoming more apparent that the British empire is in very grave danger and will need every brave man capable of bearing arms to assist in bringing this war to a successful conclusion. I am only quoting the opinions of such leading authorities as Lords Roberts and Kitchener when I say that every man will be needed. It therefore behooves us as citizens of this glorious empire, not because it is our duty but because we are British citizens, to spare no efforts in helping out the mother country in every possible way with men, money and supplies.

The people of British Columbia have not yet realized how serious the situation is, otherwise I venture to predict that the recruiting offices would be working overtime.

Colonel Coy, of the 50th Highlanders, has indeed set a splendid example to the province by his public spirited work, and so have the volunteers who have already left Victoria, but these examples are strictly individual.

Are we going to allow the Dominion government to do everything? Are we going to allow the Ontario government to beat us in the matter of patriotic sacrifice? Ontario has already made a donation of 250,000 sacks of flour to the imperial government, but what has British Columbia done? True, we have sent 2,500 men to the front, but, as I have already pointed out, those men have volunteered their services individually and the Dominion government has borne the expense of equipping them.

We use the adjective "British" in connection with this most western outpost of the empire, so let us prove to the world that we are entitled to use that word and that we are British to the core. The patriotic and noble-minded women of the I. O. D. E. are proving that they are worthy descendants of our forefathers by the good work they are doing, but why do not the men who have been elected to lead the province take the lead in a crisis like the present one? If the government of British Columbia would take the initiative and raise and equip a regiment, or, better still, two regiments, at the expense of the province, it might have the effect of arousing the enthusiasm of the wealthier of our citizens and stimulate them to doing something practical with the means at their disposal for the benefit of the whole empire.

I have read that a prominent citizen of Montreal has donated a half million dollars for the purpose of raising and equipping a regiment, and we need only go back a few years to the Boer war to find several instances of private individuals raising regiments at their own expense. It is such patriotic actions as these that arouse the enthusiasm of the people and keeps alive all over the empire that sentiment that has made the British nation what it is to-day and of which we are part. No Britisher wants to see conscription introduced, and as long as the empire possesses men of the calibre who left Victoria last week for the front, so long will conscription be a creation of the mind, but the moment that spirit of patriotism and love of the mother country begins to wane, then will the empire begin to wane, conscription or no conscription.

In conclusion I would like to quote the last message of Britain's greatest naval hero to his men, "England expects that every man this day will do his duty."

SYDNEY C. THOMSON.

IN STERLING LIVES A GIRL

Who Suffered As Many Girls Do—Tells How She Found Relief.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 22 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life."—Miss BERTHA A. PELOQUIN, Box 116, Sterling, Conn.

Massena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. I was certainly in a bad condition as my blood was all turning to water. I had pimples on my face and a bad color, and for five years I had been troubled with suppression. The doctors called it 'Anemia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVISA MYRES, Box 74, Massena, N.Y.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

INVOCATION.

To the Editor: Obviously the present crisis is a call to national and individual prayer. The following prayer may be found useful by some of your readers in this city, which will be benefited and united by prayers—prayer during the testing time and afterwards—common prayer to the common Father. The prayer runs as follows:

"O most powerful and glorious Lord God, the Lord of Hosts that rulest and commandest all things; Thou sittest in the throne judging right, and therefore we make our address to Thy Divine Majesty in this our necessity, that Thou wouldst take the cause into Thine own hand, and judge between us and our enemies. Stir up Thy strength, O Lord, and come and help us; for Thou givest not always the battle to the strong, but canst save by many or by few. O let not our sins now cry against us for vengeance; but hear us Thy poor servants begging mercy, and imploring Thy help, and that Thou wouldst be a defence unto us against the face of the enemy. Make it appear that Thou art our Saviour and Mighty Deliverer, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

The prayer is taken from the Church of England prayer book, can be found in any Church of England prayer book, under the heading of the service entitled "Forms of Prayer to Be Used at Sea," and is preceded immediately by a rubric, containing the words, "The prayer to be said before a fight at sea against the enemy," although the prayer is as equally appropriate to land battles as to those at sea.

It is interesting also to observe that identically the same prayer in the same service is found in the Book of Common Prayer of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States of America, which church is in communion with the Church of England.

Ald. McNeill Reached Toronto To-day; Confers With City's Fiscal Agents

The city comptroller heard from Ald. McNeil to-day. The alderman stated that he had reached Toronto this morning and would meet the representatives of the Dominion Securities Corporation, the city's fiscal brokers, while in that city.

He asked the comptroller for any information which it was desirable to give at this juncture. As chairman of the finance committee, Ald. McNeill will place himself in direct touch in Toronto with the financial situation as it actually exists. He stated in his wire that he will leave for Victoria at once, and will be here early next week.

Contrary to expectation, the report from counsel with regard to the application of the B. C. Telephone company for an additional $25,000 worth of debentures under the agreement of 1911, did not reach the city council last evening, but it is understood that it is ready. Mayor Stewart said this morning that the subject would be taken up at a meeting to be held on Friday next, probably before the session of the streets committee.

At the first meeting held this morning only a certain amount of preliminary work was done by the civic committee which is looking into the curtailment of expenditure. There were present Ald. Dilworth, chairman; Ald. Porter and Ald. McCandless. Two departments, the electric light and plumbing, had prepared the information asked. Others will do so for future sessions of the committee. After the committee had formally constituted itself and had decided on the course of its inquiry, an adjournment was made till this afternoon.

In connection with the widening of Fort street between Linden avenue and Yates street, J. H. Gray, has been allowed the sum of $2,028 for compensation of damage to lots 2, 3 and 4, block 2 of the Spring Ridge estate.

FIRE CHIEFS HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Invitation is Extended to Association to Meet in San Francisco Next Year

LARGE GATHERING AT OPENING DAY'S SESSION

City Officials Extend Welcome to Visiting Heads of Departments; Day's Activities

The Pacific Fire Chiefs' association assembled at the city hall to-day to open the annual convention. There was a large attendance when the proceedings opened, the city council chamber being draped with the British and United States flags.

This is the second time the gathering has been held here, some six years having elapsed since the last visit of the chiefs.

The morning session was largely occupied with addresses of welcome, and replies thereto by visiting chiefs. Chief Murphy, of San Francisco, extended an invitation to the association to meet in San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific exposition year.

The convention, on the motion of Chief Davis, called Chief Wood, of Renton, to the chair.

In extending a formal welcome to the city, Mayor Stewart congratulated the association on the choice of Victoria as a meeting place. He alluded to his close personal association with the Victoria fire department, extending back to 1897. The department here had been thoroughly efficient in recent years.

Unfortunately fire departments were not appreciated by the public as they should be. Here in Victoria there appeared to be an impression that the department cost too much, because fires were few, but it was the cheapest form of insurance. The chief had convinced him, as he had others who were dubious, of the advantage of motor apparatus, of which the city had a considerable quantity now. He expressed hope that the visitors would enjoy themselves while in the city.

Alderman W. F. Fullerton, chairman of the fire wardens' committee, also extended a formal welcome.

In expressing thanks, those of the visiting chiefs who spoke alluded to the fact that this is the second occasion on which Victoria has entertained the association. While it was gratifying to know that fire departments in general were improving, Chief Stetson, of Seattle, felt that progress must be shown in the addition of motor apparatus to the fire equipments at all points on the Pacific coast.

R. W. Douglas, chairman of the board of underwriters of the Vancouver Island association, spoke from the standpoint of the underwriters.

"Fire insurance," he said, "is sometimes the cause of fires." Advantage was taken of the protection of insurance of property. The cause of fires should be investigated very thoroughly. This could be better done by municipal councils than by the underwriters.

Insurance was as necessary to the individual as the expenditure on naval armaments to the country. Many had criticized the large expenditure on armaments in recent years, and on the large number of men engaged apparently in doing nothing. To-day these men saw the usefulness of battleships and cruisers. Similarly some might offer criticism because of the way in which the men frequently stood idle among the fire apparatus at the halls. When the time of emergency came in a midnight fire, however, the value of the department was realized by everyone.

Chief Murphy, of San Francisco, extended an invitation to the convention to meet in San Francisco next year. He spoke on behalf of Mayor Rolphe and President C. C. Moore, of the Panama-Pacific exposition. He pointed out that since the association met in San Francisco, that city had passed through one of the greatest fires in history—though that was nothing to brag about. The chief spoke of the advantages of motor apparatus over horse-drawn vehicles.

Assistant Chief O'Donnell, of Los Angeles, indicated that he was on a vacation. His superior, Chief Eley, was unfortunately, sick.

At that moment a resolution was passed to be sent to Chief Eley, expressing sympathy on the loss of his son recently, and stating regret at his own illness.

Other chiefs also spoke, including Chief Lauder, of Edmonton. Then the business of the convention was formally opened with the striking of a committee on resolutions.

The following chiefs were present: F. C. Miller, Centralia, Wash.; W. E. Crawford, Hoquiam, Wash.; W. A. Taro, Everett, Wash.; H. F. Briggs, Eugene, Ore.; P. F. Laffues, Missoula, Mont.; J. F. N. Moffett, Vernon, B. C.; Geo. Orth, Ellensburgh, Wash.; C. A. Munroe, Cleburn, Wash.; R. A. Sommers, Anacortes, Wash.; W. Kitchin, Roslin, Wash.; J. H. O Rourke, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; A. B. Sprau, Munroe, Wash.; D. B. Keating, Marshfield, Ore.; J. G. Wintemute, Fresno, Cal.; G. M. Hanisch, Roseville, Cal.; J. P. Coleman (asst.), Redwood City, Cal.; G. E. Wallace, Modeste, Cal.; D. H. McDonald, Prince Rupert, B. C.; A. Van Landingham, Wenachee, Wash.; F. Raymer, Rossland, B. C.; P. M. Culver, Raymond, Wash.; L. E. Asher, Puyallup, Wash.; J. A. Lester, South Vancouver, B. C.; A. Turner, Point Grey, B. C.; J. M. Melhuish, Brandon, Man.; J. Finlay, North Vancouver, B. C.; John Watson, New Westminster, B. C.; J. Parkin, Nanaimo, B. C.; C. D. Foster, Astoria, Oregon; C. W. Culver, Emeryville, Cal.; T. Heath, Saskatoon, Sask.; J. Wood, Renton, Wash.; J. H. Carlisle, Vancouver, B. C.; T. G. Lauder, Edmonton, Alta.; M. A. Pierstorff, Lewiston, Idaho; T. R. Grahame, Corvallis, Ore.; George H. O'Donald (asst.), Los Angeles; F. Stetson, Seattle, Wash.; Geo. Forrest, Alberni, B. C.; A. Buchan (district chief), Winnipeg, Man.; J. Shrewsbury, Long Beach, Cal.; W. T. Stapleton (asst. chief), Raymond, Wash.; F. G. Gillam (battalion chief), Seattle; T. Murphy, San Francisco; E. G. Dawson, North Yakima, Wash.; H. M. Hurd, Port Townsend, Wash.; E. B. Raymond, Pasco, Wash.; J. Kenny, Berkeley, Cal.; J. Kellogg (ex-fire marshal), Seattle, Wash.; H. P. Bringhurst (fire marshal), Seattle; R. Mackay, Kamloops, B. C.; T. Davis, Victoria, B. C.

The following were present representing various rubber hose, fire alarm and similar interests: F. H. Hayner, Renseveller Valve Co., Seattle; W. Allen, Canadian Rubber Co., Vancouver; J. McKenzie, Canadian Consolidated Co., Victoria; R. E. Polk, Renseveller Valve Co., Tacoma; F. A. Wood, Gamewell Fire Alarm Co., Seattle; H. P. Travers, American Rubber Co., Oakland; B. A. Day, Gamewell Fire Alarm, Seattle; F. B. Shattock, Seagrove Co., Seattle; A. B. Hughes, Nott-Joslyn Co., Seattle; W. J. Kingsley and H. Martin, Aero Fire Alarm Co., Seattle; R. T. Rasmussen, Raymond, Wash.; W. Noble, secretary-treasurer, Vancouver Island underwriters.

There were also a number of local aldermen, underwriters, etc., invited by Chief Davis, whose names do not appear.

Convention Notes.

The badge of the association is very picturesque, being composed of a view of the parliament buildings, pendent from which is the shield with the fire chiefs' sign of the five trumpets, surrounded by the name of the association. Outside this circle is a wreath of laurel, with small shields bearing the Union Jack and the United States flag.

Chief John Watson, of New Westminster, is a veteran of the great fire in that city in September, 1898, when the business district was burned out.

Chief Thomas E. Heath, of Saskatoon, reports that the crops in central Saskatchewan are looking well, although the wheat is a little thin round Saskatoon. The farmers are looking to the great grain exchanges for news of the rise in wheat due to the European war.

There seems a general disposition among the delegates favorable to the San Francisco invitation for 1915. It would be particularly gratifying if the international gathering to be held shortly in New Orleans should decide to go to San Francisco in that year for the Panama-Pacific exposition, as many of the chiefs go to both gatherings.

TO USE MACHINERY

Effort to Turn Energies of People Temporarily Out of Work to Making of Toys.

At the meeting of the vacant land improvement committee of the Victoria and Island Development association, a suggestion was brought up by Mr. Marchant to the effect that in these days a good business could be worked up in the making of portable chicken houses. Permission might easily be obtained, it was argued, to use these on vacant properties where a permanent structure would not be allowed.

The committee endorsed the resolution as many people are partially equipped for making them. W. E. Scott, deputy minister of agriculture, said that if people desirous of making these temporary structures went to his department in the parliament buildings they could get drawing and specifications which would materially help them.

Another suggestion arises from the fact that there are one or two firms in the city which have all the machinery for making interior woodwork, who in consequence of the war will not be hard pressed with orders during the coming winter. The industrial commissioner would like to get in touch with people who have had experience in Europe in the making of wooden toys, or those toys partly made of wood, as it might be possible to combine the people with the requisite machinery for the making of all kinds of toys for the Christmas trade. People with experience are requested to send their names.

If there are any other people out of work who feel they could make anything for Christmas provided they have the use of machinery and factories, they are invited to send word to the commissioner, who will try and put them in touch with the right people.

AUTUMN PLANTING CONCISELY EXPLAINED

Mrs. Hutchinson, of Royal Oak Women's Institute and Miss Leitch Address League

At a largely-attended meeting of the Household league yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. rest rooms, Mrs. G. L. Foulkes, president, in the chair, two excellent practical talks on kitchen gardens and food economics by Mrs. Hutchinson, of the Royal Oak Women's institute, and Miss Leitch, respectively, were listened to with keen interest.

"Autumn Planting" was a seasonable title for the former's paper, which explicitly dealt with the subject of suitable vegetables to be placed now in the garden to be ready for winter use. Gardens well-drained and well-protected would come through the winter without injury from frost. Carefully planted vegetables would germinate early in the spring if put in the ground now, and be ready for use long before the spring vegetables. Dry farming methods, constant cultivation, helped greatly in conserving the moisture in the ground. The late sowings should be entirely of early varieties. Peas, for example, should be of late varieties at this time, the last planting to be about September 1. The season for any favorite vegetable might be extended by arranging a protecting frame, such s those used as trellises for pea vines, if covered with sacks or newspapers. Broccoli, Brussel sprouts, cabbage, kale and perennial spinach should be put in early in September. In properly-prepared ground they would root deeply, and far outdo plants set in spring.

A hot-bed was invaluable, and helped in the growth of lettuce and radishes. The first essential was a load of manure fresh from the livery stable, preferably one using straw for bedding.

For family use the principal value of the hotbed was in providing a succession of tender salad plants to be used direct from the bed. It should contain a row of parsley and two each of small onions and French forcing carrots as well as lettuce and radishes. Seed should be sewn a little at a time every two weeks. After the bed was spent (subsided to the same temperature as the ground outside) growth would not be so rapid, but by that time the manure in the bed could be used for the outside garden.

Dead leaves, lawn clippings, prunings from the garden, all vegetable waste from the house (except where these were infected with mildew or insects) should be saved in heaps and used on the garden for fertilizer. Waste liable to attract flies should be covered with a shovelful of garden loam or ashes immediately. Bones from the table should be buried in a trench beside the berry bushes or other perennials, where they were attacked by the many low forms of life in the topsoil and rendered inocuous. All animal waste, emphasized Mrs. Hutchinson, was vegetable food, and it was one of the national extravagances to throw thousands of tons of plant food into the sea and then buy thousands of tons of fertilizer made from fish.

Garden perennials such as rhubarb and asparagus might also be produced for winter use. Such seed as peas, parsnips, and salsify and others that like cool ground and moisture could be planted in September or early in October.

For general information regarding the subject, Mrs. Hutchinson recommended her hearers to Peter Henderson's "Gardening for Profit," Bailey's "Principals of Vegetable Gardening," and Rawson's "Success in Market Gardening," all of which were at the public library. Another book, "The Gardener and the Cook," by Lucy Yates, was delightful reading and full of information.

Food Economics.

Miss Leitch classified foods as carbo-hydrates, the coal of the human frame; proteins, the water; and fats, the oil. Proteins largely consisted of meat; carbo-hydrates of sugars, and fats of butter, nuts, etc., in the regular diet. Such foods as milk and eggs combined all three, but one could not always get these or meat cheaply. Fish was an excellent food, but should be boiled instead of fried. Bones and heads of fish should not be thrown away, but should be used as stock for soup, and, after that, as fertilizer for the garden.

The value of liver, which could be bought from ten to fifteen cents per pound, was pointed out, and the merits of stewing steak, used with onions, expounded. The scrag of mutton, neck of mutton, was one of the cheapest of meats, and was a valuable food when stewed with barley and onions. Onions themselves formed a nourishing food, as did boiled lentils, beans and peas. All odds and ends in housekeeping should be saved and re-made into other dishes. Rice was a very valuable and cheap food, but had not much bone-producing power such as possessed, for instance, by oatmeal.

The essence of economical housekeeping was to make something out of nothing. All boiling waters should be saved for soups. Green vegetables should be considered as blood purifiers rather than as foods. Dried fruits, currants, raisins, when well-washed and soaked, were most palatable and nourishing food. Good beef-dripping was preferable to cheap butter. Tea should not be taken with any of the proteid foods, as it turned them into leather.

Mr. Stewart, president of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute, and of the B. C. Fruitgrowers' Association, addressed the meeting also, talking along the lines of mutual co-operation of the agriculturists and the women's organizations of the city. The only remedy of the present high prices lay in the encouragement of British Columbia products. On motion of Mrs. Justin Gilbert that a committee of the Household League be formed to meet a committee from the Fruit Growers' Association, Mr. Stewart undertook to arrange a meeting of the Association for the purpose.

SAW EXCITEMENT CONSEQUENT ON WAR

Victoria Citizen Describes Scenes in London and Paris on Start of Hostilities

Returning to Victoria after a holiday in the British Isles and in France, Harold Brown, of the well-known firm of P. R. Brown, was able to give the Times some details of the excitement in Britain and across the channel consequent on the outbreak of the great European war. He was accompanied on his trip by R. C. Hall and T. H. Bailee.

Mr. Brown crossed the Atlantic on the S. S. Virginian, as the Aquitania, in which passage had originally been taken, was lifted from the service on the outbreak of hostilities. Some discomfort naturally attended the passage on account of the fact that the boat was crowded from stem to stern, mostly with Americans anxious to get back to their native soil. The boat was obliged to wait for several hours off the north of Ireland, until given a signal to proceed, and even then a widely different course from the usual one was set. The vessel went very carefully with lights all covered, and all portholes clamped tight, while even in the music rooms and salons sheets of rubber covered all the windows so that not the faintest trace of the ship's whereabouts could be discerned at night by a possible enemy. The day before the vessel reached Quebec, the cruiser Essex was sighted in the distance, and caused a great deal of excitement aboard, until her wireless flashed a message that all was well.

"The scene in Paris when mobilization was ordered," said Mr. Brown, "was indescribable. Officers rushed through the streets on horseback; hundreds of reservists in marching kit passed through the great boulevards cheered by the crowds, while every possible shape of conveyance was utilized to take the thousands of people to the great termini who desired to get out of Paris as quickly as possible."

The Victoria party was unable to get any kind of a conveyance, and had to make its way on foot to the station. There the three found that they could not make the Callais route, and had to go the longer passage by way of Dieppe.

Mr. Brown added that the scenes in London on the memorable night of August 4 surpassed even the Paris delirium. Every ten minutes the great dailies were rushing out extras, and the crowds surged through the streets singing and shouting. But the tone everywhere was optimistic, and it was surprising how soon everyone settled down to the changed conditions. There was a general feeling that all would come well, though it might take time and infinite sacrifice. The Americans caused tremendous confusion by their arrival in shoals from the continent, and by the refusal of the Cunard line to run its boats.

The traveler concluded that the finest and most memorable sight of the whole trip was the mighty naval review at Spithead, when the greater part of Great Britain's navy, in all its preparedness, passed before the eyes of the onlookers.

LOCAL EXCHANGE OPEN FOR BUSINESS AGAIN

Operations Renewed on Limited Scale; Investment Stocks Unquoted

Victoria, Sept. 1.—After having adjourned for the whole of August, members of the Victoria stock exchange reassembled this morning for operations on a limited scale. No quotations were made for quite a number of investment stocks, the managing committee having decided it to be to the interest of shareholders not to allow trading in this class of security until more normal conditions have returned. The average of prices was naturally lower than since before the present unsettlement, but there was a moderately disposed support in several of the list.

Oil stocks were conspicuously off, under the leadership of Monarch. Some good strikes in the neighborhood of the Dingman property have been officially reported, buying power showing little response, however.

IMPORTS FROM GERMANY WERE FOURTEEN MILLIONS

Trade Figures for Year Show That Canadian Imports Dropped Off Hundred Millions.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Trade figures for the twelve months during June 30 were issued to-day. That there is a big German commerce in this country which Canadian manufacturers can capture is shown by the fact that for the twelve months ending June 30, our imports from Germany were $14,203,651. Our exports to Germany during the same period were $4,675,723. Our imports from France for twelve months were $13,970,547. Our exports to France were $3,793,173. Our Belgian trade must be completely demoralized, and it has been considerable. For the twelve months the imports from Belgium were $4,380,166, and our exports to Belgium were $4,687,537.

The total figures of trade show that during the last year our imports have shown a remarkable decrease, dropping off a hundred millions. Our exports, on the other hand, have shown a most extraordinary increase. These figures were published before the war broke out, so that its effect on commerce is not yet apparent. The business depression of the past year has not seriously affected Canadian trade, as the total commerce for the twelve months ending June 30 was $1,067,545,384, compared with $1,089,572,600 the year previous. The total imports were $593,783,252, as against $690,000,035. The total exports were $473,762,096, as against $399,522,265.

The chief increase in the exports were in cattle, breadstuffs and manufactures

O'CONNELL NAMED AS SUCCESSOR TO BROCK

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—Announcement was made to-day that R. J. O'Connell, for many years a member of the geological survey staff, has been appointed deputy minister of mines. He succeeds Prof. R. W. Brock, who resigned the post of deputy minister to become dean of the faculty of applied science in the university of British Columbia.

CHICAGO WHEAT HAD BREAK AND AN UPTURN

Trading in Pit Closes Strong After Pursuing Up and Down Course

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Excellent action was again in order in the wheat trade. A break of 1¼ to 1⅜ at opening was followed by good upturn of 2½c. or better, prices going well over the close Monday. This advance brought fresh selling pressure from a number of big houses. There was a sharp break in northwest prices. Country was reporting more liberal offerings of wheat. Kansas City claimed wheat offerings to come to Chicago. September corn off to 78⅜ and cash one cent lower. December sold 72¾ on early rally off to 72½, now holding 72, May around 74 after a dip to 73½. Eastern demand was slow.

Another big export business in cash oats reported sales 890,000, including 600,000 to exporters. Market had break of one cent from high point of the morning and late rally with wheat and corn.

PLUMBERS' WAGES RAISED.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 31.—The board of arbitration on the plumbing wage dispute came to an unanimous conclusion on Saturday night after a session of seven hours' duration. The decision was that the rate of wages shall be 38½ cents per hour up to April, 1915, and thereafter for a period of one year. The strike has lasted four months. The men were receiving 35 cents an hour and demanded 45 cents an hour. This was refused, though one master plumber gave 42½ cents an hour and this was accepted by a number of the men.

BUSY WINTER FOR ALL DOMINION ARMORIES

Valcartier Camp Will Soon Be Abolished Because of Weather Conditions

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—The coming winter will be one of activity in the armories of the Dominion and especially in those of the cities, if the present intention of the department of militia, to have the various militia units brought up to a war basis, is carried out. At the present time the city regiments on a peace basis approximate 200,000 men and on a war basis they will number 300,000. How far the regiments have been depleted by the drafts made upon them for the overseas expeditionary force is not known, but it is believed that the city regiments can be recruited up to full war strength in a short time without interfering with farm help in rural districts or depleting the lumber camps.

It is doubtful for several reasons whether the Valcartier camp will be utilized for further mobilization this year, owing to the Quebec climate and the fact that the port of Quebec will close about November 10. As soon as it freezes the water supply will fail and the rigor of the climate will make it exceedingly uncomfortable for tenting. If a second contingent is sent it will be drawn from the city regiments which will be mobilized at their various armories, where they will train and shoot over their miniature ranges. Halifax will then be the point of embarkation. Large number of men can be accommodated at the fort and citadel, and at Aldershot if necessary.

The announcement that men will be sent first to Bermuda is taken here to mean that that point will be chosen for the preliminary training and mobilization of further divisions from Canada. The climate is suitable for winter manoeuvres.

BUYING HORSES FOR WAR AT HIGH PRICE

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Heavy demand for horses and mules suitable for army purposes for nations engaged in the European war has caused prices to advance from $50 to $100 per head higher than a year ago, it was said at the Chicago stockyards to-day. An agent said to represent the Canadian government is reported to have purchased 400 horses to be sent to England.

AUSTRIAN DEFEAT IS DESCRIBED AS COLOSSAL

London, Sept. 1.—The Central News publishes a dispatch from Rome stating telegrams received there from Bucharest, Roumania, declare that the Austrian defeat in Galicia was colossal. Trains are transporting tens of thousands of wounded; many Austrian regiments have been destroyed.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT PAYS ST. JOHN VISIT

St. John, N. B., Sept. 1.—St. John was to-day honored by a visit from H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught who arrived by special train from Halifax this morning. His royal highness made a round of the defences and fortifications, inspected the armory and the soldiers stationed on duty here, and left at 2 o'clock.

BELGIAN COMMISSION TO ENTER ITS PROTEST

London, Sept. 1.—Members of the Belgian commission which is on its way to the United States to protest against alleged German atrocities in the war zone arrived in London last night from Antwerp. They expect to leave for Washington in a few days.

BRITISHERS ORDERED TO LEAVE BRUSSELS

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch received here from Ostend, says Independence, a local newspaper, declares that the German governor of Brussels has ordered the expulsion of British residents within 24 hours. The Britishers have lodged a protest with Brand Whitlock, the American ambassador.

The Germans are fortifying the environs of Brussels, and they have transformed the cemetery into a redoubt.

CENSORSHIP IN PARIS SHUTS ALL NEWS OUT

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Paris, published in the Star, says that the censorship on all news of the military operations in northern France is exceedingly strict. The afternoon papers of Paris came out to-day will all reference to the progress of military events blocked out.

There is much excitement in Paris, but the people have faith in the ability of the allies to see the country safely through the present crisis, according to the Star correspondent, and of the Russian troops to reach Berlin.

STEAMER REPORTS HEAVY FIRING IN NORTH SEA

London, Sept. 1.—The Westminster Gazette publishes a dispatch from Gothenburg, Sweden, stating that the Wilson line steamer Oslo has arrived there from Hull and reports having heard heavy cannonading as she passed through the Skager Rack, the waterway between Northern Denmark and Norway.

SAYVILLE WIRELESS ISSUES ITS BUDGET

Being Sedan Day Germans Issue "Jubilation" News for People to Read

London, Sept. 1.—The Evening News publishes a dispatch from Paris stating that a French chauffeur, attached to the general staff, arrived in the French capital to-day from the north and made the following statement: "The German advance has been checked by their terrible losses during the last few days. They even asked for an armistice to bury their dead."

Paris, Sept. 1.—Well founded, though unofficial reports are current in Paris this evening that the French have checked the German advance on the north.

Washington, Sept. 1.—A German victory at Allenstein, in which three Russian army corps were defeated and 70,000 prisoners, including two Russian commanding generals, were taken, was reported to-day to the German embassy from Berlin by wireless via Sayville, L. I.

The dispatch says: "Official reports of the victory at Allenstein show it was even greater than known before. Three Russian army corps were annihilated. Seventy thousand prisoners were taken, including two commanding generals, three hundred officers and the complete artillery of the Russian army.

"In the west, General von Kluk, it is reported, against the French flanking attempt, advanced to Conbles.

(Here part of the message could not be clearly deciphered.)

"General von Buelow completely defeated a superior force of French near St. Quentin. After having captured a British infantry battalion, General von Hausen forced back the French on the river at Rethal.

"The Duke of Wuertemberg crossed the Meuse river, also advancing on Aisne. The crown prince advanced beyond the Meuse after capturing the entire garrison of Montnedy, which tried a sortie. The fortress also was captured. The crown prince of Bavaria and General von Heringen have been in continuous battle in French Lorraine.

"To-day, Sedan day, was celebrated here with jubilation because of the victorious news which arrived from the east and west last night. The Russian defeat at Ortelsburg recalls Sedan by the huge number of prisoners taken."

The Brazilian military attache at Berlin writes that the German victory did not come as a surprise to those who witnessed their manoeuvres in peace and declares that the effect of the Krupp heavy artillery is astonishing.

The chief of staff of the German sanitary department officially declared there are many proofs that the British and French are using dum-dum cartridges.

The state of health of the German army is good, noted hygienists accompanying the army.

NUERNBERG REPORTED AT HONOLULU TO-DAY

Honolulu, Sept. 1.—The German cruiser Nuernberg, whose whereabouts have been a mystery since she left here early last month, appeared off this port early to-day. Inasmuch as the Nuernberg left this port 35 days ago just before war was declared between Germany and Great Britain she is entitled now to take on as much coal and no more as will carry her to the nearest home port and remain in port 24 hours.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW WAS CATTLE CAR PASSENGER

Philadelphia, Sept. 1.—The American liner Mercen, flying the British flag, arrived to-day from Liverpool with 208 cabin and 240 steerage passengers.

Dr. Daniel Longakre, of Philadelphia, one of the passengers, confirmed the cabled story that Chauncey M. Depew of New York, rode in a cattle car in France. Dr. Longakre was a passenger in the same car, he said. Mr. Depew sat on a keg part of the time and also sat in an open doorway with his feet hanging out in a pouring rain.

PACKING PLANT FIRE AT TACOMA, LOSS $700,000

Hundreds of Cattle, Sheep and Hogs Run Out of Pens and Are Saved.

Tacoma, Sept. 1.—The main plant of the Carstens Packing Company was destroyed by fire early this morning entailing a loss estimated by Thomas Carstens, president, at between $700,000 and $1,000,000. The fire is believed to have started from a defective wire or spontaneous combustion. It was under control at 3.30 a.m., after the fire spread from the main plant to the fertilizer plant in which was stock estimated to be worth $100,000. The departments destroyed are the large refinery, the fertilizer, the old killing room, the engine room and the three smoke houses.

Hundreds of cattle, sheep and hogs were run out of the pens, and it is believed all animals were saved. The three large ammonia plants were saved.

President Carstens said the loss on the packing plant burned this morning will be upwards of $600,000. He says the insurance company raised the rates on him last year and he decided to go without.

CARDINALS ASSEMBLE TO CHOSE NEW POPE

Doors of Conclave Hall Closed Now Until the Election Has Been Made.

Rome, Sept. 1.—The doors of the conclave hall, behind which the college of cardinals gathered last night to elect a successor to the late Pope Pius X., were still closed this morning. Not until a new pope has been chosen will they be opened, or any news of the result of the proceedings be given out. Behind the portals the cardinals last night prayed for inspiration to enable them to choose a pope who would fulfill the requirements of the office, both from the standpoint of the church and that of humanity.

Owing to a persistent rain there were few people this morning in the square outside St. Peter's.

The streets in this vicinity are patrolled by police, and detachments of troops are kept in readiness for any disorder, but there is no thought that they will be required to exercise their authority.

Dropped Dead.—W. H. Smith, a man of 70 years of age, and said to be a farmer by occupation, dropped dead at Bridge's shoemaker's store, 901 View street, at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Sergeant Harper was called, and after an examination had been made by Dr. Thomas, the body was removed to the B. C. Funeral parlors. Deceased had been living for some time at the Northern hotel, but had recently taken up his abode at the store where he died. Little is known about him as he has no family living here. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of the death. An inquest will probably be held.

HOME RULE ISSUE IS STILL VERY LIVE ONE

Premier Asquith Announces It Will Be Proceeded With When House Reassembles.

London, Aug. 31.—For a moment this afternoon the House of Commons, turning from the country's danger, reverted to the old controversy over Ireland.

Premier Asquith had announced that on reassembling on September 9 the government would proceed with the Home Rule bill and the Welsh Disestablishment bill, and John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists in the house, expressed the hope that if the government's proposal did not meet with the approval of the whole house, the government would not change its intention in regard to Home Rule.

Former Premier A. J. Balfour immediately rose and said that if the government again introduced Home Rule its course would arouse a torrent of abuse.

This pronouncement brought an angry roar from the ministerialists, during which Mr. Balfour stood unmoved. When quiet was resumed he said that to introduce the bill while many members were serving at the front could only arouse a heated controversy.

Again the ministerialists roared "shame," which cry was met with angry counter cheers from the opposition. There was an angry shout from the Nationalists and ministerialists. Then the house proceeded with other business.

RACING WILL CONTINUE AT LULU ISLAND TRACK

Attorney-General's Suit Lost on Hearing Before Mr. Justice Clement.

Vancouver, Sept. 1.—The efforts of the attorney-general to suppress the continued racing meet at Minoru park by means of an interim injunction of the supreme court were rendered futile this morning by Mr. Justice Clement, who on learning the facts in connection with the application refused to continue to hear the application and summarily dismissed it with costs. His lordship's action was the result of learning that the applicant, Connors, through whom the application was made, was not a bona fide investor in the B. C. Thoroughbred association, but had merely bought one share for the purpose of acquiring status to come before the court and ask for an injunction to stop the race meet.

MUNRO ENLISTS.

FOWNES TURNS IN NEW RECORD SCORE

Manchester, Vt., Sept. 1.—Leading a field of 104 golfers, all aspirants for the national amateur golf championship honors, W. C. Fownes, of the Oakment Golf club, Pittsburg, set a new record for medal amateur championship play yesterday. His card of 70, returned at the end of the first round of 18 holes qualification play over the links of the Ekwanok Country club, was the lowest ever returned for medal play for an amateur championship meeting in this country.

Fownes, who was national champion in 1910, had an advantage of two strokes over the second best card of a crack field, R. R. Gurdon, of Braeburn, returning a well balanced 72.

Francis Ouimet scored the best performance of the trio of high ranking players, in which Jerome Travers, present amateur champion, and Chas. Evans, jr., of Edgewater, also were grouped. Ouimet's 73 brought him into a tie for third place. Evans returned a 74 for seventh place, and Travers was tied for tenth with a card of 76.

The highest score of the sixty-four to qualify was 85. Of the 104 starters 96 returned cards.

VILLAGE CONTRACT LET

Hugh Macdonald Will Lay Sewers in Old Esquimalt for About $15,000.

Advice having been received from the senior naval officer that the permission to blast did not exclude the village section of Esquimalt, the municipal council last night decided to award the contract for the sewer construction in this district. The engineer reported in favor of the tender of Hugh Macdonald, who has just finished the sewer construction in the adjoining district. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000 and will take some time as it is nearly all rock work.

The purchase of two hose reels from the municipality of Point Grey was recommended by Councilor McAdam and decided upon. The reels will cost $85 each. They can be attached to the rear of an automobile and thus be driven rapidly to their destination in case of fire.

The Hudson's Bay company having straightened out a jog in a street leading from Rithet street toward the sea it was decided by the council last night that the subdivision plan submitted some weeks ago should be adopted. Word was received from the Esquimalt Waterworks company that it intended to lay a main in old Esquimalt road from Grenville street east.

An extension of the licensing by-law was passed by the council whereby all milk wagons and pedlars' wagons must bear a large letter "E" signifying that the the vendor has been duly licensed to carry on business in the municipality

FIRST THINGS

The first religious newspaper in America was the Herald of Gospel Liberty, which began its existence 106 years ago to-day, September 1, 1808, at Portsmouth, N. H. Elias Smith was the first editor and publisher. Later the publication was removed to Dayton, O., with the Christian Publishing Association as publisher. This journal has been called the oldest religious paper in the world, but it was anticipated by more than a century in France by the Journal Ecclesiastique of the Abbe de la Roque, which was founded in 1680. The second religious paper in America—often alleged to have been the first—was the Boston Recorder, "a religious journal," founded in 1816 by Nathaniel Willis. The Watchman and Reflector, of Boston, was started in 1819, and in the following year the New York Observer began publication under the ownership of Richard and Sidney E. Morse, the latter having been the first editor of the Boston Recorder. The Morses were brothers of Prof. Samuel Finley Breese Morse, inventor of the telegraph. The Christian Register, the great Unitarian organ, was launched in 1821, and Zion's Herald, Methodist, a little later.

WILL CONSIDER BY-LAWS

Saanich Council Will Have Four Measures Before It for Approval To-night.

At the meeting of the Saanich municipal council this evening, following the works committee meeting, steps will be taken to deal with the by-laws for waterworks, paving and schools, and also to ratify the agreement with the city for the purchase of water in bulk when Sooke waterworks is in operation. The by-laws for which debentures will have to be sold when the market is more favorable are waterworks $375,000, paving $350,000, and schools $50,000. It is not intended to proceed with the works immediately, but merely to have in existence the necessary legislation to enable a prompt completion of the steps when the market is easier. The sewer by-law, to enable contributions to be made for service through the northeast and northwest sewers, will not be submitted till the annual election in January next. Neither the waterworks nor paving by-laws will specify the streets on which work will be done.

The agreement with the city for the purchase of water was read at the city council meeting last evening and passed. The amount to be sold is limited to five million gallons daily at the sliding scale already published.

The poll on the by-laws will probably take place on September 19.

Lesson in Scientific Complexion Renewing

Everyone has a beautiful skin underneath the one exposed to view. Bear that in mind and it will be easier to understand the correct principle in acquiring a lovely complexion. Nature is constantly shedding the top skin in flaky particles like dandruff, only much smaller in size. In abnormal conditions, or in advancing age, these particles are not shed as rapidly as in robust youth. The longer they remain the more soiled or faded they become—that's the immediate cause of a "bad complexion."

It has been discovered that ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, will absorb these worn-out particles. The absorption, while hastening Nature's work, goes on gradually enough to cause no inconvenience. In a week or two the transformation is complete. The fresh, healthy-hued, youthful underskin is then wholly in evidence. You who are not satisfied with your complexions should get an ounce of mercolized wax and try this treatment. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

RESIGNATION WAS NOT ACCEPTED BY COUNCIL

Councilor Herrick McGregor Gone to Valcartier; New Health Officer's Report

Councilor J. Herrick McGregor sent in his resignation to the Oak Bay council last night, but at the reeve's suggestion it was not accepted, the letter being laid on the table. Councilor McGregor's reason was that his duties with the 50th Highlanders, in which regiment he holds a commission, had taken him to Valcartier and hence forbade his participation in the conclaves of the council.

Dr. W. P. Walker, the new medical health officer of the municipality, was present and was introduced to the council, his first report being then considered by the members. This was on a protest which had been received from some of the dwellers on Monterey avenue complaining about the condition of the gully where for some time past garbage has been dumped. The doctor suggested in his report that the immediate remedy would be the planting of a layer of fresh earth on the garbage, and recommended that all residents should be notified that they should not put any combustible or organic matter in the garbage cans. This suggestion received the support of the council, and it was decided that the municipality should be circularized to this end. In the meantime the gully will be covered with earth.

A letter from Fire Chief Davis was read by the clerk calling attention to the fact that the department was constantly getting calls to put out bush and grass fires, most of which had been caused through thoughtlessness and carelessness. If the property was owned by a syndicate the chief suggested that it should look after these things itself, as the absence of the reels at the Uplands left the city and Oak Bay without proper fire protection. It was moved and carried that a reply be sent to Chief Davis reminding him that the Uplands are within the limits of the municipality of Oak Bay.

Acting on the suggestion of a letter received last night from the Oak Bay school board, the council will enter a protest against the B. C. Telephone company's charging higher rates in Oak Bay for service than throughout the city.

A reply was received from the 50th regiment to the letter in which the council had complained of rifle firing within the limits of the municipality. The officers agreed to accept the warning of the council.

An old time grievance with respect to the condition of Monterey avenue was aired by a ratepayer, who asked that something should be done for the removal of rubbish in certain portions of that thoroughfare. The engineer was instructed to attend to the matter.

The paying of several accounts was authorized and Consolidated By-law 105 was finally adopted and passed. The engineer also recommended the framing of a small wiring by-law, as he had come across some very bad wiring which was dangerous to several residents. The solicitor will be instructed to draw up a by-law along the lines laid down.

To render pork sausages more digestible, thoroughly prick the sausages and plunge into boiling water for five minutes. Then fry in the usual way.

Progress is not an accident, but a necessity. It is part of nature.—Spencer.

MAY REDUCE HOURS OF CLUSTER LIGHTING

City Council Proposes to Economize in Future in Street Lighting

Half the cluster lights in the city may be shut off at 11 o'clock nightly, an hour earlier than at present, and 40 candle power lights may be installed in place of the 60 candle power lights now used. These were matters before the city council last evening on the recommendation in the former case of the lighting committee, and the latter case of the mayor.

Suggestions came from various quarters as to the possibility of economizing in light, there being a general idea that the streets have too much light in the cluster area, and that it is possible to save current by re-arranging the distribution. The lighting committee will report on the matter.

Discussion of the various angles of the early-closing by-law was renewed when, as the early-closing by-law was being submitted for reconsideration, an application come from the Victoria Souvenir Company to be allowed an exemption on account of its special character. The council, on the only division during the meeting, declined to make any exemptions, and the by-law passed in its original form. It becomes effective on Monday week.

The co-operation of Victoria with the Vancouver Playground Association in an exhibition which the latter proposes to make at the fair at Vancouver, which opens on Thursday, was urged in a communication. At the fair a demonstration of the work being carried on under the Vancouver association will be given, and arrangements have been made whereby an officer of the Playgrounds Association of America will give an address on "Playground Work." The object is to form an association in this province, and Victoria is urged to send delegates. The council referred the matter to the parks committee.

HAD EXCITING PASSAGE

Commissioner Lamb, of Salvation Army, Came Over to Canada on R. M. S. Mauretania.

For the purpose of paying a visit to Sir Richard McBride to confer with him on the Salvation Army situation in British Columbia, Commissioner Lamb, whose headquarters are at Toronto, arrived in the city last evening, leaving again on the midnight boat for the mainland.

The commissioner came over on the R. M. S. Mauretania when she left Liverpool on August 1. On her way across war broke out, and she was advised by H. M. S. Essex to change her course from New York to Halifax, where her captain took her with hooded lights. The passage, says Commissioner Lamb, was most exciting.

It is feared that the work of the charity organizations connected with the Salvation army will suffer while the war is in progress, and the British government has already commandeered several of the biggest Salvation Army barracks for a less peaceful purpose.

The commissioner was accompanied by Colonel Turner, of Toronto.
